Alumnae News

THE PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

THE Nunc Dimittis of the Alumnae may not yet be sung, but so closely have we come to the sunset of long effort that the overture is softly opening.

Ban Righ Hall stands grey and fascinating, sheltered in her double row of trees, and her bright roofs glint to the sun above the green. True her great window sockets are still eyeless, and her timber ribs are gaunt and visible. But Ban Righ has taken her place among the living entities of Queen's, and the Alumnae's dream has become flesh and walks amongst us. True it may become a Banquo figure yet, for of the guarantee $8,000 remains to be discharged, and Ban Righ must be furnished to the extent of another $25,000. But the Alumnae face the future in the proof of the past, confident that within the next twelve months a solvent and proud Association will be hostess to the University in the great oak-panelled Common Room of Ban Righ Hall.

And a word anent the guarantee might be a welcome explanation to the Alumnae at large. It will be remembered that when the tenders were opened in November, 1923, it was found that the lowest was fully twenty-five per cent. in excess of the funds at our disposal. The Building Committee, undismayed, proceeded to a detailed revision of the plans, eliminating here, reducing there; contracting in height, width or breadth of various rooms and of the whole building; substituting less desirable but satisfactory material and equipment in various details, and generally attempting to obtain a building as similar to original plans as finances allowed. New tenders were then called, receivable December 12, 1923. When these were opened it was evident that the building could not be erected at less than some $15,000 in excess of funds available.

The Executive was immediately convened at Kingston to consider this problem. Two questions presented themselves. Would we proceed with the building now? If so, what financial arrangement would we make? On January 12, 1924, the Executive passed the following resolution:

That the Executive recommend that the building of the Residence be proceeded with at once, on the basis of the contract being awarded to the lowest tender of December 12, 1923, the Alumnae Association assuming the responsibility of raising the additional sum required. The Executive also recommend that the contractor be asked to insert an alternative clause in the contract, stating the cost of erecting the building with concrete floors and framing, on the understanding that the Association will advise within a time specified by the successful contractor on which basis they will finally proceed.

On January 23rd and 24th, representatives of the Alumnae Association met with the Finance and Estates Committee, to discuss this resolution which had been sent forward previously. However, while expressing every sympathy and understanding with our situation and proud record, and our good faith in future promises and ability to redeem them, the Committee was firm in its decision not to proceed with the building, until this $15,000 was in hand, or legally covered. The Alumnae representatives finally suggested a guarantee bond, as a basis of procedure. It was then agreed that if friends of the Association could be found to guarantee this sum of $15,000, the Trustees would accept a reputable bond and permit us to proceed. This was on January 24th. It is a tribute to the reputation of the Association that within two weeks friends were found to guarantee the bond twice over, and on February 15th the Executive was called at Kingston and the whole question of whether we should proceed under the terms laid down by the Trustee Board was again raised. The following action was taken:

That the Executive ask the Trustees to go ahead with the building, reiterate our position of January 12, and, failing acceptance of that recommendation, that we endorse the suggestion of January 24th as to the bond, and turn over the bond to the Trustees.

On the evening of February 15th, the Alumnae Association represented by the full Executive and the Building Committee, made a final appeal to the Trustees, at a joint meeting, to be trusted on our past record, for the discharge of the amount still to be raised, and to be relieved of the onus of binding our honour by a legal bond. When, however, this latter course became the only alternative to abandoning the building operations, the Executive accepted the conditions laid down and filed the bond.

On the suggestion of one of the Trustees, the Alumnae Association in filing the bond was given the privilege of asking for its withdrawal at the regular meeting of the Trustees in May. On April 19th, the Alumnae Association Executive by unanimous vote, declined to avail themselves of the privilege. "Proudly we lived and proudly we'll fall," if so be it that we are short of funds on the appointed day.

The year has been an encouraging one in other respects also. Ottawa and Montreal have both formed branch associations, while the membership of the general Alumnae Association has passed the 300 mark for the first time and now stands at 327. The Summer School and the extra-mural students have also been brought into closer contact with the Association during the past year.

Of course all effort and energy are now concentrated in the determination of the Association to lift the bond before it falls due and to show some progress towards the Furnishing Fund by that date. And to 1925 the Alumnae now look as to a star that has long will-o'-the-wisped them through tortuous, dévious ways of effort, disappointment, courage and attainment, until at length the doors of Ban Righ open to the daughters of Levana and that small faithful group of women who fifteen years ago first dreamed the dream, lead a new generation within those sheltering halls.

BAN RICH HALL—AN EXPECTATION

THE PROMISED LAND

THE Red Room buzzes more and more with conversation in regard to Ban Righ Hall, now that the long promised residence has taken a visible shape and form. For in a short time a huge grey bulk has evolved into a stately, graceful building, and the stone square above the broad main entrance bearing the name "Ban Righ Hall" rewards us in our pilgrimage to the promised land. The name itself thrills our hearts, the Gaelic music of the words is part of Queen's, is part of us! Not another college, not another residence could ever have a name like that and no name more in harmony with a Queen's University Residence could be found. We know that Ban Righ is a living unit and see in that building a thing which soon will prove a potent factor in college life.

Who shall speak of the hopes that Ban Righ brings to the residence girls and to Queen's girls who are not in residence now? Although we have had many happy days, many jolly parties, and formed lasting friendships in the residences now open, we feel that the number of girls is so limited that we form a clique, rather than have our residences an integral part of the college. With a larger number of the girls in Ban Righ Hall and the annex, there will be a stricter observance of all the customs and laws, and a further development of our heritage, the Queen's spirit.

We shall have an advantage which perhaps was not in the forefront of the minds of those who gave us Ban Righ, an advantage which we have longed for, and that is, that we shall have a Queen's University Residence in which we can accommodate visiting teams in as fine a manner as they have entertained us at McGill and Varsity. The Alumnae will never quite understand how proud we, who have witnessed the last Basketball Meet, shall be when we have the next one, and can bring our visitors to Ban Righ, to a Residence which equals, if not surpasses, the glories of which they brag.

Although Ban Righ Hall will bring these many great advantages to the women now in Residence, it will bring many more to all Levana. First, the greater size will afford increased opportunities for the girls to enjoy the pleasure of residence life. That this is the outstanding feature can be easily seen when one talks with members of the junior, sophomore, and freshman years. Everyone is trying to find out where she must make application for admission to Ban Righ Hall, and the unfortunate one who has relatives on the Residence Board is simply plagued with questions. Many of the Kingston girls have ceased to enjoy the comforts of home in envy of those girls who will spend their college days in the new residence.

One of the greatest assets Ban Righ Hall will bring will not be to the residents alone, nor to Levana alone, but to the whole college. That is, in the use of that magnificent common room. Only those who have visited the building, even in its present unfinished state, can appreciate the beauty of that fine room with its great arched windows and high walls. The common room is destined to replace the Red Room for committee and social gatherings and allow that dignified old room to remain unsullied and to reinstate itself in its former throne of study. The establishment of such a hall will mean much in every college circle and rank Ban Righ Hall as a Queen's University building.

Ban Righ Hall comes to the members of Levana from their older sisters—a gift. Only by unceasing endeavour, by utilizing to the full every available legitimate means has it been possible for the Alumnae to crown their efforts with such success, the erection of a building which will stand through the ages as evidence of that loyal, unselfish, generous spirit by which the women of Queen's have made the name of the University loved and respected throughout the whole world! They have persevered in the face of adversities, and now the realization of part of their ideal has come true; but only part, for the real success of their work, the real culmination of their hopes and ambitions will only be fulfilled when we, their successors, in accepting this fairy-like gift, and entering, say, "Great gratitude to you who have been our sisters indeed," and thus we co-operate and carry on as they have done—magnificently.

AN UNDERGRADUATE.

BAN RIGH HALL

NEXT October Ban Righ Hall opens its doors to the women of Queen's. It stands, its grey walls overlooking the campus, saying to all, "Come in, make me your home!" It is an invitation not to be despised, but to be accepted joyfully by all to whom it is extended.

The lonely Freshette will lose her loneliness when she sees her charming room, flooded with the morning sunshine, and hears the cheery voices echoing up and down the long corridors. Who could be lonely in the vast dining-room filled with a hundred and fifty laughing, chattering girls? And the stately senior will feel that in this new home her last year at Queen's will be the happiest and best of all. Perhaps she has been at one of the small residences already in existence. In that case she will look forward to Ban Righ Hall with still greater joy, because she knows the happiness and comradeship of the smaller ones. Or perhaps she has always been one of the envious onlookers and outsiders, watching rather wistfully the happiness of the more fortunate few. What a world of new experience Ban Righ Hall will open to this girl! How she will enjoy the cheery good-fellowship, the joyous laughter and merriment and the deep friendships that flourish within its walls! Ban Righ Hall will mean to her, as to all of us, a hundred per cent. deepening of the famous Queen's spirit, which works for Alma Mater at all times and stands by her, come weal come woe, which loves her and cherishes her, and can sing truly:

"Queen's College is our jolly home,
We love her still where'er we roam,
The merry songs we used to sing
In memory's echoes long shall ring."

Ban Righ Hall will mean happiness particularly to the girl who is leaving home for the first time, and whose mind will be put at rest concerning her home for the three or four years of life in Kingston. Ban Righ Hall will be her home, where she will make lasting friendships, and which she will be indeed loth to leave on graduation day.

Best of all, Ban Righ Hall links together the present Levana undergraduates with those who have gone before and have paved the way for us. For it is only by the efforts of the Alumnae that we have this residence to look forward to and enjoy. Remembering their own college days, they have dreamed and planned for the girls of the future, and their dreams and plans are now being realized. No girl can feel herself alone, for behind us we have the great body of those who have gone before and who are interested in each one of us. Each stone in Ban Righ Hall stands for a friend who was once a Freshette herself, alone in a strange city. Its sheltering walls symbolize our friends and big sisters.

A FRESHETTE.

AN IDEAL FOR QUEEN'S

SIR Robert Borden, soon after his election to the Chancellorship of Queen's University, wrote the following letter to Dr. R. Bruce Taylor:

"Character and purpose are much more important than number. There is no reason to aim at an overgrown university. I should like to see Queen's develop as a real university of the liberal arts, possessing at the same time distinctly Canadian characteristics. One need not minimize the usefulness of applied science, technical education, instruction in agriculture in these days, when material considerations weigh so heavily upon the souls of men. But it is well, still more it is necessary, that our youths should listen to voices which proclaim that these considerations are neither absolute nor permanent in the life of a nation."

THE DOUGLAS LIBRARY

IN their new fire-proof quarters, our books and documents can snap their fingers at the erstwhile stalking spectre of fire. Gone at last are the days of congestion when fear of combustion, spontaneous or otherwise, cast a shadow of gloom over the place of books!

On October 17th, in the main Reading Room, took place the formal opening of the Douglas Library, by the Honourable Howard Ferguson, Prime Minister of Ontario. This latest and, undoubtedly, noblest building on the campus, as Mr. W. F. Nickle explained in his introductory words, was made possible by a generous gift from the late Dr. James Douglas, at one time Chancellor of the University, supplemented by a grant from the Ontario Government. That it has been completed quite free from debt is a great satisfaction to all the friends of Queen's.

Most of the top floor is taken up by the students' Reading Room, with the cataloguing department at one side. In such a room, supplied as it is with comfortable chairs and tables, and bathed in sunlight from morning to night, the hours of study should prove pure delight. The next two floors contain, in addition to the stacks, the administration offices and a number of small seminar rooms, to be used by the professors for group discussions.

Safety is beyond doubt a primary necessity in a building which shelters valuable books, and usefulness is, obviously, the chief mission in life of a library. But the most distinctive feature of the Douglas Library is the prominence of the motive of beauty. The noble tower on the east, the fine doorways on the east and west, all beautifully carved, and the facings of the windows are all of white Queenston limestone. The beautiful Gothic windows high up in the Reading Room give the building an aristocratic air, amongst its simple, unadorned sisters. Especially when lighted from within in the evening, these windows suggest a little bit of an English university transplanted into our midst. Charming, too, is the view from the roof-garden beyond the roofs of the city to the lake and the rivers.

But the real heart of the building is on the main floor, opposite the main entrance—the Memorial Hall—containing the record in bronze of those who gave their lives in the Great War. Engraven in stone above the entrance of the Hall, facing the bronze tablet, with its one hundred and seventy-nine names of honoured sons of Queen's, are the words, "Dulce et decorum est pro patria mori." The stained glass windows which are later to be set in will add a distinctly impressive charm to this memorial "shrine." May it indeed be the heart not of the Library alone, but of the whole University throughout the years to come, lest we "break faith" with those who died.

LEVANA, 1923-1924

LEVANA this past year has not launched out upon as many new lines of endeavor as during the previous one, but has put her energy into consolidating innovations already begun. The wisdom of this course has been shown by the result.

Levana began this year of its history with the usual mystic ceremonies performed over our august bear. It was preceded, however, not by the former initiation which of late had degenerated into boresome and trite crudities, but by a remarkably charming fancy dress ball where one faced ingenuity in the apparel of every partner. On all sides one heard exclamations among the older girls of "This is more fun than anything I have been to at Queen's." Even the spectators were unusually enthusiastic.

The fancy dress ball, however, was only the first of a delightful series of dances for which Levana was responsible. During the rugby season she undertook to entertain the teams at several tea-dances and evening affairs. In the spring, of course, the annual Levana tea-dance was consummated after much plotting and planning and whispering, in the corners of the Red Room. It was a leap-year affair, hence the pathetic queue of Sciencemen at the post office looking for invitations.

The Levana Debating Club was very energetic the first term of the year, holding debates among its own members and with the men's debating society, the debates being variously impromptu and prepared. The prize of $10 awarded by Mrs. McNeill to the best debater aside from those participating in the Intercollegiate Debate was closely contested, the winner being Miss Sarah Burns. The Intercollegiate Debate between McGill and Queen's was held this year in Kingston and dealt with the problem of compulsory education. It was McGill, however, who triumphantly bore off the laurels.

The Levana Council Court met only once to deal with specific offenders. Two ringleaders among the many members of Levana who had danced on the floor of Grant Hall on the night of the Freshmen's Reception were brought before the court and reprimanded. Any penalty was felt to be impracticable as so many others had been guilty of the same offence.

The Levana Athletic Board of Control has been exceptionally active not only because it was Queen's turn to entertain the basketball teams of Toronto and McGill this spring, but because she entered Intercollegiate Girls' Hockey for the first time. Levana was victorious neither on the Gym. floor nor on the ice, but put up a pretty stiff opposition. It was decided also that a cup will be awarded after this to the winner of the girls' championship in tennis.

In the A.M.S. elections last fall the Arts men gave the girls the opportunity of putting up a candidate for the second vice-presidency. Twice before in the history of Levana a girl has run for this position but this year only has the member of Levana proved the successful candidate. We hope that this precedent will be followed every year in the future.

Drastic changes have taken place in the Red Room. Articles of furniture which might be very well as precious antiques to be handled gingerly were hustled away and some really beautiful and usable chairs, desks and a Chesterfield into which one sinks three feet at least, have come to take their place. The finishing touch to our redecorated Red Room is a remarkably fine piano, the gift of Mrs. Bogart as a memorial of her daughter, Flossie. Other changes and improvements have been promised for the coming year by friends of Levana.

The Levana Journal and Dinner which were innovations last year were handled as if Levana had always been seated in the Editor's and Epicure's chair.

It would be a herculean task to describe all the things which Levana has attempted to accomplish this last year, all the executive work in connection with the Levana Sale, The College Frolic, the raising of money for our Ban Righ Hall, the entertainment of various guests, athletics, dramatics and social whirls, and especially the routine work of the Society. Every girl has had her greater or lesser share in this work, but success is due perhaps most to the indefatigable energy of the President, Gertrude Milliken, and of the Secretary, Bessie Billings, on whom most of the responsibility rested. With the co-operation and sometimes opposition of many of the members of Levana they brought a difficult and responsible year to a successful close. We can only hope that the coming year will be as full of everything that is worth while and will linger with as much warmth in the memory of the daughters of Levana.

FRANCES MACCALLUM, '24.

THE 1924 SUMMER SCHOOL

QUEEN'S Summer School for 1924 eclipsed all previous records for attendance. Despite the fact that many Canadian teachers took advantage of the excursions to Wembly, or attended the meetings of the Canadian Teachers' Federation in Victoria, the registration lists show that 451 students were in attendance. Ontario, as would be expected, led with 372 students, Quebec sent 33, the Maritime Provinces 6, while the four Western provinces were represented by 40 students.

Instruction was given in twelve subjects in the course leading to the degree of Bachelor of Arts. Some twenty of the Queen's professors, several of them being head of their respective departments, were instructors. The courses offered included, in most of the departments, not only the elementary pass courses of the first two years, but from one to three honour courses as well. Large classes were also enrolled in Physical Training and Cadet Corps work. One outstanding feature of this year's Summer School was the series of ten lectures delivered by Dr. J. R. P. Sclater, of Parkdale Presbyterian Church, Toronto, on the subject of "Christian Optimism in Modern English Poetry."

Many of the students of the 1924 Summer School will remain at Queen's to undertake advanced or post-graduate work during the regular winter session, just as some forty of the 1923 summer students were enrolled intra-murally during the succeeding session.

The rapid growth of the Summer School at Queen's is not an isolated fact in the educational development of Canada. Almost all Canadian universities are now offering summer school instruction in academic or professional subjects, or both, and several of them are following the lead of Queen's and outstanding universities of England and the United States in supplementing their summer schools with extra-mural courses during the winter months. The great majority of the students who attend these summer schools are themselves teachers in the public and high schools of Canada during the regular school year. Not satisfied with merely the minimum standard of qualifications, these teachers are exacting of themselves a higher standard of culture and training than society and governmental rules require of them. It is a wholesome sign.

This astonishing growth of Queen's Summer School, from 24 students in 1910 to 451 in 1924, is significant of two things: first, the enthusiasm of the Canadian teachers, who largely comprise the summer school student-body, to improve their educational equipment; and second, the desire of the university authorities to organize their institutions to meet the needs of an ever-widening constituency. Not a few of the summer students believe that the summer session can be still further improved by lengthening the term from six to twelve weeks, at least in the Science departments, in order to admit of the giving of instruction in Science subjects not now offered in the six weeks' term. Not a few also believe that the growth of the summer school is tending to bring ever nearer the establishment at Queen's of the first Canadian all-the-year-round university.

One distressing event of the season was the burning of the Old Medical Building. About four o'clock on the morning of Sunday, August 10th, a bolt of lightning ignited the old structure, and, in spite of the efforts of the fire brigades, only the walls were left standing. Many of the summer students who lived near helped to carry out the medical library and part of the stock of the Students' Book Store, but even the salvaged books were damaged by the downpour of rain. The University authorities, with characteristic energy, immediately arranged to secure temporary quarters for the classes usually housed in the building.

The holiday spirit, which has always characterized the social side of Queen's Summer School, was as usual much in evidence. The tennis, the boat excursion, the 'sing-songs', the Friday-evening social functions, all showed that however serious-minded the students are about their work, they do know how to relax, to enjoy themselves and to make the most of the short term in developing fellowship and fraternity. Among the students who attend the Summer School it is very evident that the celebrated Queen's Spirit is quite safe.

Travelling Scholarship

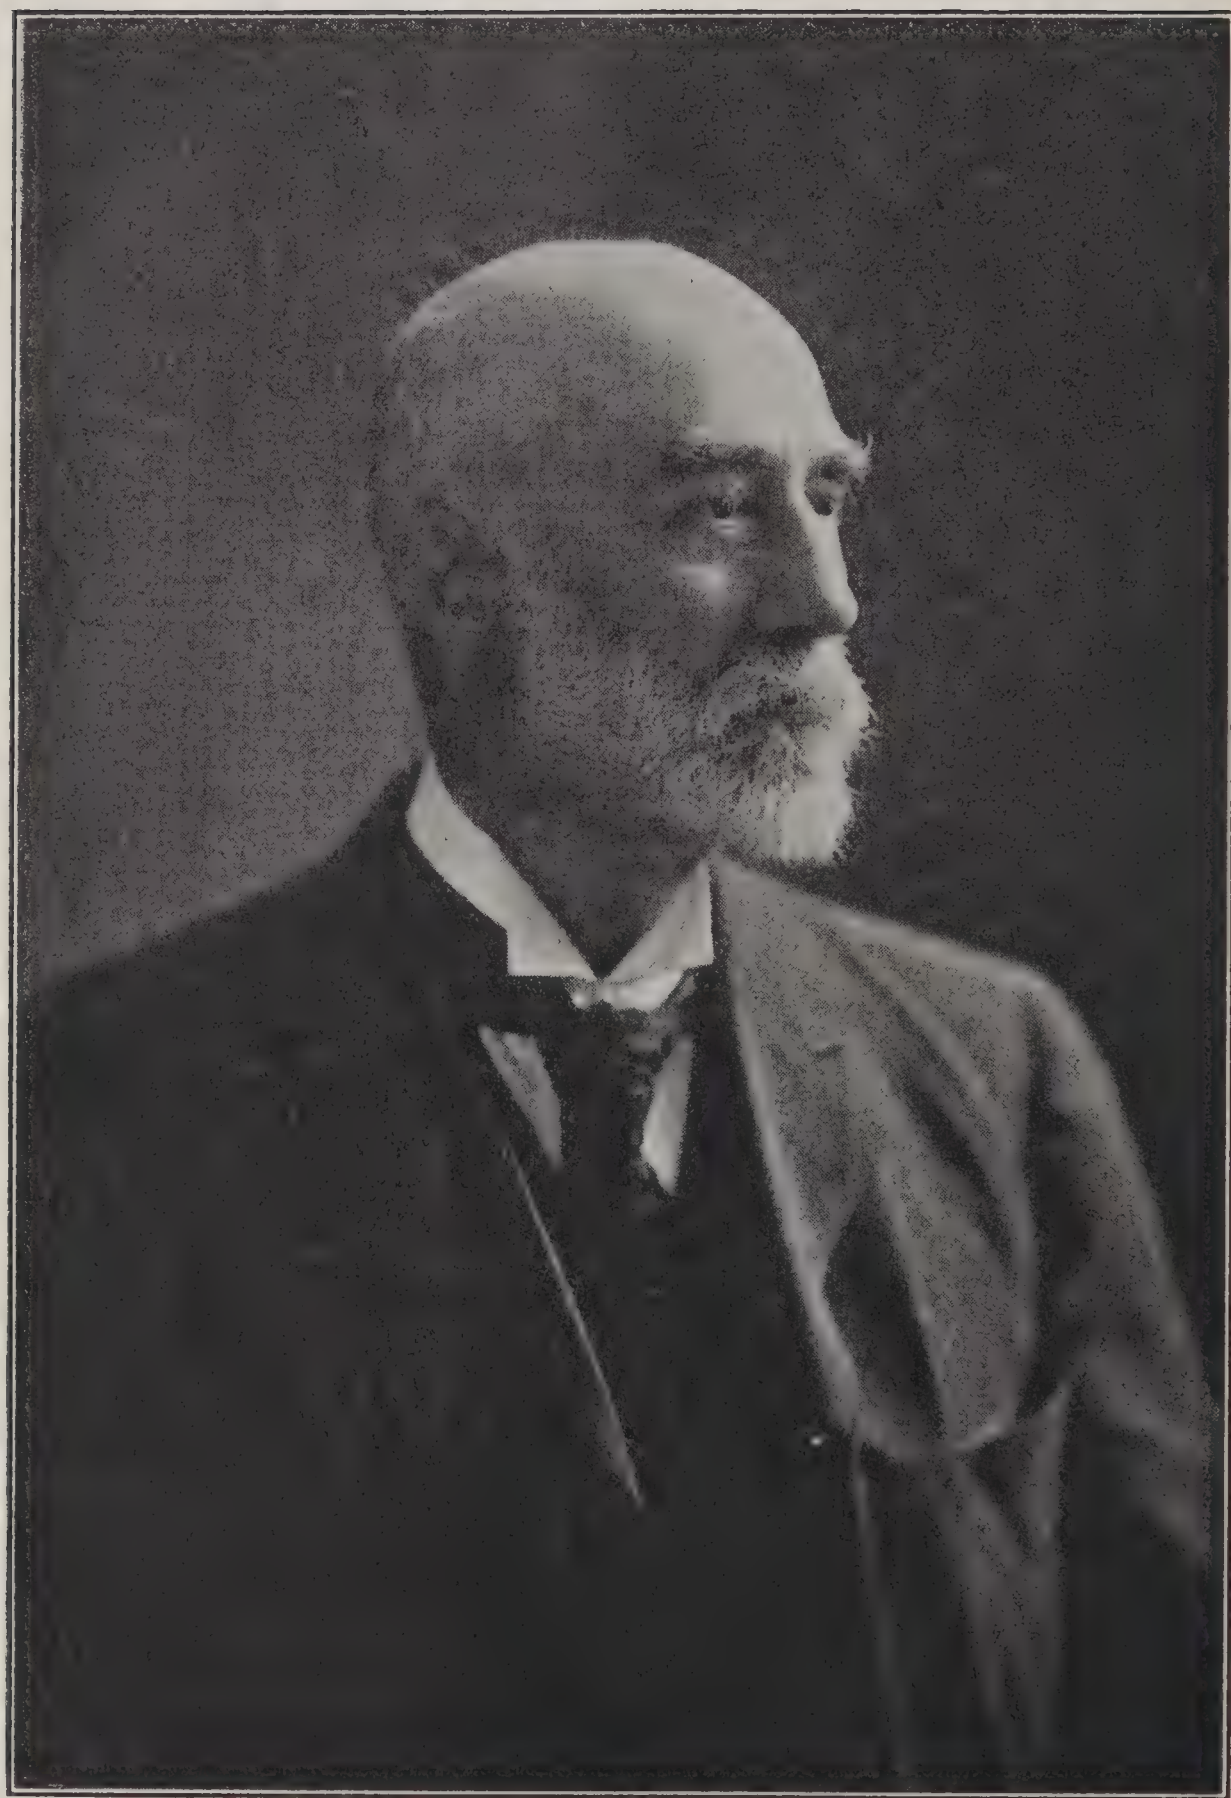

Offered by the Canadian Federation of University Women

$1,000.00

Open to any woman holding a degree from a Canadian University

In general, preference will be given to those candidates who have completed at least one or two years of graduate study and have a definite research in view. The award is based on evidence of character and ability of the candidate and promise of success in the subject to which she is devoting herself.

Application to be made by letter to the Convener of the Scholarship Committee, Mrs. Douglas Thom, 2220, 16th Avenue, Regina, Sask., NOT LATER THAN FEBRUARY 1st.

DOCTOR WATSON

DR. WATSON—AN APPRECIATION

FOR many years had Scotland been sending of her best in brain and brawn for the upbuilding of Canadian nationhood, but to sons and daughters of Queen's, it must ever be that her choicest gift came on that day in October, 1872, when John Watson, recently graduated as Master of Arts from Glasgow University, arrived in Kingston to fill the chair of Mental and Moral Philosophy. Not to many men is it given to teach with unabated vigour, in one university, for fifty-two years. Over and over again have larger universities, with the lure of gold or the attraction of numbers, tried to win him away, but something has kept him with us. One is tempted to feel that it is that indefinable spirit, which is the very breath of Queen's, which must have been the determining factor. In 1872 Queen's was but a small Presbyterian college and not until 1877 did Principal Grant, with his dynamic personality, arrive to start it on the way to its present status of a national university.

In all the progress which the half-century has brought, Doctor Watson, as Professor and as Vice-Principal, has had his full share. His influence has, moreover, gone far beyond the college. Besides having been a constant contributor to philosophical reviews, he has sent out to the thinking world the following books: Kant and his English Critics; Schelling's Transcendental Idealism; The Philosophy of Kant (on which honour students of the old days were wont to cut their eye teeth!); Comte, Mill and Spencer; Hedonistic Theories from Aristippus to Spencer; Christianity and Idealism, An outline of Philosophy; The Philosophical Basis of Religion; The Philosophy of Kant Explained; The Interpretation of Religious Experience, and The State in Peace and War.

In recent years students have become much more numerous at Queen's and to-day girls flutter from every nook and corner, but there was a time when the coming of ten or twelve freshettes almost caused a panic in the halls. Professors too were fewer. Classes were smaller and one had a better chance (or so we think now) to know and realize the personality of the teacher. "There were giants on the earth in those days" and, of them all, none was more revered than Doctor Watson.

With what fear and trembling one entered his class! And how as the days went on, one tried to shrink into invisibility, for fear his searching eye, as it sped over the students, might suddenly find one and a terrifying question be sprung! Yet, think how, later on, one sat there wondering, wondering, chewing the Kantian pemmican and learning to exercise the divine faculty of thought. How many men and women of wide influence in Canada to-day owe their ability to think consecutively, their capacity for seeing life as a unit, their vision of the great unity expressing itself in infinite diversity, their conception of existence as supremely a moral issue, to the days when they sat with three or four of their fellows under the spur of Dr. Watson's questionings.

Coming as he did from Scotland, the home of profound thinking, and from under the training of Dr. Edward Caird, it followed that Doctor Watson could not teach his students any system of empty logic. Not for them were the dry husks of thought. They must of course think logically. Full many an essay has been scored for haphazard remarks or sentimental slush. But their thought had to have content—living content. "Pure thought is pure nothing." How that rings down through the years! Therein, for his earnest students, lay the fascination of Doctor Watson. He taught them the secret of life at its very core—the essence of the most profound of moral issues—the "ought." One could not sit in his classroom and

"like some watcher of the skies

When a new planet swims into his ken," catch a vision of this ultimate unity, one in its purpose but developing that purpose along infinitely diverse lines, in which man is so highly privileged to play a part, without the deepest sense of humility, tempered with a thankful pride that we were called to be sons and daughters of God. To sit under him was to be cured of any least temptation to dogmatism. One felt indeed that life and truth were one, but that to their infinite unity there were as many entrances as there were humble seekers after God, the ultimate, all-embracing reality, the

"one far-off divine event

To which the whole creation moves."

That is what Doctor Watson meant to his students. No one can really measure the influence of such a personality. One can only try to express what he has been to oneself. How rich Queen's has been in having had him for over fifty years! Do her children appreciate it? I wonder. I remember that one summer, while he lived with his family at the corner of University avenue and Union street, we noticed a strange young man walking up and down Union street, gazing at Doctor Watson's house, as one might at that of Shakespeare or Milton. We inquired and found that he was an American student of philosophy who had read Doctor Watson's books and had come to worship.

Queen's without Doctor Watson! Can such a place be? Deplorable enough it was to us of the early nineties, to have that "Holy of Holies" in the south-east corner of the old Arts building turned over to the forces of utilitarianism, to the click-click of the typists and the rattle of the money-changers. Now to the old students of Doctor Watson comes his retirement as a very great heart-ache. For years we have lived with the hope in our hearts that some day our sons and daughters might come under the influence of our great master, and, as we have sent them up to Queen's, bidding them drink deep of the well of life at our old Alma Mater, our chief longing has been that they might prove worthy to learn of him, for "many are called but few are chosen." And now is it possible that Doctor Watson will no longer be there?

"The old order changeth, yielding place to new but to some of us the old ways seem the best. He, who has guided so many faltering feet along the pathway to the Ideal, slips into the quiet of his study to spend the remaining years amongst his books, free from the noise and fret of academic halls. With him go the enduring reverence and love of those whose souls he has awakened, and whose only regret is that their children and children's children will not be able to share in that great privilege which has been theirs.

DEAN SKELTON

A GAIN the Dominion of Canada has crossed the threshold of Queen's University asking the special services of Dr. Skelton. And again, as last year, Dr. Skelton has responded to the request of the Government and interrupted his University work to give advice at Ottawa and in Europe to those on whom rests responsibility for administering our foreign affairs.

Last year it was to attend the Imperial Conference in London that Dean Skelton left Queen's for a few months. This time he is to be absent throughout the whole academic year. It is hoped that subsequently he may return to his accustomed offices at the University. Meanwhile he is giving his whole time to the Department of External Affairs, and no definite date has been set for his release from the public service.

To Queen's men and women the news of Dean Skelton's transfer to Ottawa has been in one sense the source of warmest satisfaction. It is generally recognized that Canada has recently entered upon a distinct and critical phase of development. The country is like a young human being experiencing growing pains. Her hands and her feet are awkward and in the way. She is not sure how she should behave in the company of her neighbours. She is self-conscious, anxious to assume a place of increasing dignity in the commonwealth of nations, but unsure of herself. She turns to a mature friend for counsel. And it is Queen's University that has produced the counsellor on whose strength Canada draws at this critical and perplexing period. Into the making of the man in his undergraduate days went the traditions of solid learning, of dependability, of high scholarship, of independent thought which have characterized Queen's. And through him, during the days of his professorship and Deanship, the same traditions have been transmitted to the students whose lives he has been permitted to touch, so that the University has been proud to call him her son. But never prouder than at this moment when Canada herself has claimed him for service of epoch-marking importance. The call is a tribute to Dr. Skelton's maturity of judgment, his breadth of learning, his justness, his keenness. But it is not only that. It is also a tribute to the University that fashioned him and whetted him and that now lends him to the Dominion. And so the burnished words "Sapientia doctrina stabilitas" glisten with increased brilliance on the portals of Queen's University where all may read them.

But there is a reverse to every shield. The world sees the gay tinctures, azure and gules and or, and it deciphers the glittering motto. But he who carries the shield knows it from behind. He looks into the deep hollow of it. And so Queen's. The undergraduate in the Economics Department regards Dr. Skelton's absence this year as a calamity. The Senior whose last year it is at college is robbed of the anticipated delights of the Dean's lectures and seminars—the clear expositions, the patient questioning, the startling of the thoughtless, the routing of the presumptuous, the exquisite wit of sober-seeming sentences, and those amazing excursions into fields of knowledge beyond the strict jurisdiction of the Economics Department, linking the academic with the intimately real, bestowing life on the passive documents under discussion.

But the sense of loss is not by any means confined to Dr. Skelton's own students. The withdrawal of a highly magnetic personality has left the entire Arts Faculty in a state of agitation. For literally every Arts student has been accustomed to consult the Dean on matters of importance to himself or herself. He has entered vitally into their undergraduate and postgraduate careers, never too busy with administrative or other affairs to give himself generously to any individual who has come seeking help. And so during the period of his Deanship there has been woven into the fabric of student life at Queen's the thread of his rare influence, appearing in various patterns in the lives of individual students, inevitably present in each, inevitably woven into the most solid and attractive portion of each individual fabric.

The University as an institution suffers loss also. The Senate and innumerable committees will meet pleasantly this year in the comfortable spaciousness of the new rooms provided for them in the library building. But the consciousness of the vacant chair in their council chambers will hardly grow less keen as the year progresses, for Dr. Skelton has long been a force at such group meetings, and his judgment will continually be desired and missed by those who have been accustomed to receive it as a matter of course.

Thus it is that Queen's folk cherish a highly unpatriotic hope (publish it not in those places where hundred per cent. Canadians do congregate) that Dean Skelton's sojourns in Ottawa, Geneva, and the vast outside world may prove brief, and that before many months are over he may be back in Kingston enriching the life of the University once more with his abundant wealth.

PROFESSOR A. S. FERGUSON

A VERY serious loss indeed to Queen's was the departure of Professor A. S. Ferguson for Armstrong College, Newcastle, last Christmas. It was felt as such, not only by the present generation of students, but even more by those of us who, having attained the riper wisdom of advanced years, feel that we are able to make judgments of a certain finality as to what was and what was not of permanent value to us during those years.

An encyclopaedic scholarship, as thorough as it was broad; a mind possessed of a sense of order, sanity and proportion in the true Hellenic tradition; an imperturbable philosophic calm, based, one always felt, not on the specious ground that nothing matters, but rather on a due sense that in the end everything matters very much, and hence that a man must spread his best effort evenly over his whole life; these were perhaps the qualities of the man that struck us most. Not at first, to be sure; but even a year's patient effort to follow his thought through the mazes of that most intricate subject of his, left one somehow subtly changed. Like some plant which has sprouted overnight, after long lying underground, we were left wondering vaguely what had happened. The more mature reflection which I speak of convinces us that what had happened was nothing more mysterious than growth; growth at the contact of a new point of view, stimulated by observing a free mind at work, and sharing to some extent, if not quite consciously in the joy of that freedom, of that perfectly equilibrated, finished workmanship. It was, for us, a most happy conjunction of events that brought Professor Ferguson to Queen's in our day.

It remains only to congratulate Armstrong College on its excellent choice for the Chair of Philosophy.

CHANGES IN STAFF

Philosophy.—Dr. George Humphrey has been appointed Head of the Department of Philosophy. Born in England, Dr. Humphrey took a Mathematical and Classics course at All Souls' College, Oxford, and spent a year in the London School of Economics and at the University of Leipzig. He was tutor in the Training School in London, then Professor of Classics in St. Francis Xavier's College, Nova Scotia; studied psychology and education in Harvard, receiving his doctorate in 1920; then he was appointed Assistant Professor of Psychology at Wesleyan University, Middletown, Connecticut; in 1924 appointed Associate Professor. He has written one book, "A Story of Man's Mind," 1923, a popular presentation of Psychology.

Mr. H. R. MacCallum, B.A. (Queen's, Oxon.), has been appointed Assistant Professor in the Department of Philosophy.

Classics.—Mr. M. D. C. Tait, B.A., has been appointed Lecturer in Classics. Mr. Tait took the Honours Classical Course in Toronto University for three years with First Class Honours each year and was then awarded a Rhodes Scholarship at Oxford. He took high Second Class Honours in the Final Schools there and afterwards studied at Athens in the School of Archaeology.

Mr. J. O. Lofberg, Ph.D. (Chicago), Associate Professor of Classics, has given up his work at Queen's and returned to the United States.

Metallography and Physical Metallurgy.—Mr. O. A. Carson, M.A., has been appointed Lecturer in Metallography and Physical Metallurgy. In 1923 Mr. Carson obtained his B.Sc. degree at Queen's with honours in Metallurgy; in 1924 he was graduated Master of Arts at Columbia University and is now working for Ph.D. at Columbia.

History.—Dr. Reginald Trotter, M.A., Ph.D., is Associate Professor in History. He has his B.A. from Yale, and his M.A. and Ph.D. from Harvard. He has just completed his third year as an Instructor at Stanford University.

Mr. Robert Watt, B.A. (Oxon.), formerly Lecturer in History, will be in England this year.

Chemistry.—Mr. G. B. Frost has received the appointment of Lecturer in Chemistry. He is a graduate of the University of Toronto and has a Ph.D. from the University of California.

Mr. Earle F. Whyte, B.A. (Dalhousie), Ph.D. (Clark), formerly Lecturer in Chemistry, has gone to the University of Chicago to pursue postgraduate studies. His place at Queen's University is being taken by Mr. G. B. Frost.

Economics.—Mr. W. H. Wynne, M.A. (Queen's), has been appointed Lecturer in Economics. He received his B.A. at Queen's in 1919 and his M.A., with medal in Economics, in 1920. Mr. Wynne spent the following two years as a student at the London College of Economics, during which time he also read law in Chambers. From 1922 to 1924 he was Research Scholar in Economics at Cambridge University.

Mr. F. A. Knox, M.A., a recent graduate of Queen's, has been appointed Lecturer in Economics.

Professor C. F. Gummer, of the Department of Mathematics, is to be congratulated upon having received the degree of Ph.D. recently.

Professor William Nicol, formerly of the Department of Mineralogy, died in February. Although he had been for some time in retirement, his death has come as a blow to the University, for he retained throughout his life an interest in the welfare of Queen's. It is fitting that his memory should be perpetuated in Nicol Hall, one of the well-equipped Science buildings.

Professor Matheson is acting as Dean of the Faculty of Arts during the absence of Dean Skelton.

THE BACKWOODS WOMAN

By Isabel Skelton

This is a glorification of the efforts of Canadian women, particularly in the early days, which counted so much in the upbuilding of our commonwealth. Several familiar figures are treated and others not so familiar who should be much better known. The author will be recognized as the wife of Professor Skelton of Queen's. Illustrated by C. W. Jefferies.

In Memoriam

THE Alumnae Association has this year suffered the loss of two well-loved members in the persons of Miss Reta Wales Hiscock and Miss Anna E. Sinclair. •

On June 13, in Kingston General Hospital, following a critical operation, death came with tragic suddenness to Reta Hiscock. Born in Kingston, on New Year's Day, 1882, the eldest daughter of Joseph and Elizabeth Hiscock, Reta was educated in the city schools and obtained her Bachelor of Arts degree, with honours in Moderns, at Queen's in 1905. She then took a course in the Business College and spent about two years in the offices of the Methodist Book Room in Toronto. Deciding to make teaching her life work, she enrolled in the Faculty of Education at Queen's, and taught Moderns in Bradford and Stouffville High Schools. While in the latter town she endured the loss of her father and at the end of the school year returned home and remained the companion of her mother, while teaching in Sydenham and in Victoria public school, until the day but one before her death.

Miss Hiscock possessed to a remarkable degree the qualities that make the ideal teacher. Many are the tributes to her ability, to her gift for forming friendships and to her happy, generous and steadfast character. "I would have been in her class next term," said one little girl, with the sense of irreparable loss. She is survived by her mother, her sisters, Miss Grace Hiscock, R.N., and Mrs. Thos. Mack of Detroit, and her brother, Mr. Howard Hiscock of Oshawa.

Miss Anna E. Sinclair, who passed away at her home in Toronto, on October 16, made a valuable contribution to education.

Born at Ridgetown, Ont., on July 24, 1867, she received her more advanced education at the School of Pedagogy and at Queen's University, later becoming a graduate student of Chicago University and the Sorbonne, Paris. She was author of the stories in "Phonics Made Easy," and recently published a bulletin on the eradication of American disease among bees. The conducting of a successful apiary experiment at her Muskoka home was another of her achievements.

For many years Miss Sinclair lived with and assisted her brother, Dr. S. B. Sinclair, Inspector of Auxiliary Classes for Ontario, and her death is mourned by ex-students and teachers of the Hamilton, Ottawa and Macdonald Training School, and by many other friends. She was an active member of the executives of the Queen's Alumnae Association and the Gordon Bay Association and of the Methodist Church. She is survived by her brothers, Dr. S. B. Sinclair of Toronto and J. J. Sinclair of Tonawanda, N.Y.

MEDICAL EDUCATION OF WOMEN IN CANADA

THE following is a resumé of a paper given by Mrs. Adam Shortt in Kingston in 1916, and entitled "Historical Sketch of Medical Education of Women in Kingston, Canada." Unfortunately many of the writer's personal anecdotes must be omitted from an article such as this, but those interested in Medical Education will find the original paper most interesting and instructive. Even the younger graduates know that there was once a Women's Medical College at Queen's, but how many of us realize the obstacles overcome in instituting the lectures, the difficulties of the women students, or finally the reasons for amalgamation with the Toronto School?

When in April, 1880, the Royal College of Physicians and Surgeons opened its doors for a summer session for women exclusively, there was a registration of four, one of whom was Miss Elizabeth Smith, now Mrs. Shortt. The first lectures were most encouraging, and when one day the girls took home for study, a scapula, attributed to one Betsy Kerr, they felt they had really commenced the study of medicine. The following is the epitaph of said Betsy Kerr:

"Poor Betsy Kerr has gone away,
She would if she could, but she couldn't, stay;
She had two sore legs and a baddish cough,
But her legs it was as carried her off."

As only two new students appeared the next summer, the Faculty agreed to arrange a winter session for ladies. So in the fall of 1881 a second session of concentrated study was begun. The six women registered enjoyed separate lecture-, dissecting-, and cloak-rooms. Even then they suffered somewhat from the remarks of a few of the more vulgar students. There were always some students to follow a lecturer who made objectionable allusions. But with few exceptions, the professors seem to have been most sympathetic and tactful. And as the women were all hard workers they were greatly appreciated by their teachers. After the close of this session one paper said: “. . . the unanimous testimony of the faculty is that the presence of ladies in the institution tends to improve the discipline rather than injure it.”

But in the session '82-'83 the ladies wished greatly for a separate college. The lowest element among the students, led by a Physiology lecturer who objected to women studying Medicine, finally made the lectures unbearable. The Faculty endeavoured to stand by the lady students, but the men stated that if the ladies remained at the College, they would leave. A compromise was made whereby the ladies registered were given separate classes and the Faculty promised to admit no more women. It is interesting to note that during this trouble the public and the press took up the ladies' cause.

This was followed by talk of a Women's Medical College in Toronto. But the different factions could not agree, so Mr. A. P. Knight continued his endeavours to arouse interest in a Medical School for Women, in Kingston. On October 2nd, 1883, the first Women's Medical College in the Dominion opened its doors there. It was supported by the students' fees and by subscriptions from prominent Kingstonians; and the City Corporation gave Ontario Hall as a lecture-room. The General Hospital and the Hotel Dieu were used for clinical instruction. The Faculty consisted of twelve professors and two demonstrators.

In the same year a Woman's Medical College was opened in Toronto.

The spring of this year, 1884, witnessed the graduation of the first class of ladies from a Canadian University. There was much applause and enthusiasm shown by the Faculty and by the public, both at Convocation, and at the closing exercises of the Kingston Women's Medical College.

The calendar for the next year announced Dr. Alice Macgillivray as lecturer in Practical Anatomy, the first woman on the staff. Later, Mrs. Shortt, Dr. Marion Livingstone, and Dr. Isobel McConville held lectureships. In 1890 a suitable house was purchased for the Women's Medical College, and here its work and success continued until 1894. The staff continued good; it included women when qualified; and there were always several women on the Board of Trustees.

Meanwhile the Toronto Women's Medical College prospered greatly and its registration steadily increased. Therefore, ten years after its inauguration, the trustees of the Kingston College decided that there was no need of two such colleges in the one province, and most of the Queen's students arranged to complete their courses in Toronto.

The year 1906 saw the end of the Toronto Women's Medical College, the reasons being given concisely in an issue of the British Medical Journal:

1. "Many ladies do not now object to co-education in Medicine.
2. It is also believed that the ladies will be treated with perfect fairness by the other students, and separate instruction can be arranged for if necessary."

Thus it took twenty-five years to convince people of the possibility of co-education in Medicine, and to make them realize that women students are ordinary individuals looking for knowledge and a profession.

This co-education has been continued and now, in 1924, women in the Faculty of Medicine in the University of Toronto are considered quite in the natural course of events.

THE CHRISTIANIA CONFERENCE

THE Third Biennial Conference of the International Federation of University Women was held in Christiania, from July 28th to August 1st, 1924. Of the 250 members registered, 108 were official delegates, the largest number coming from the United States, which numbers 20,000 members—ten times as many as the British Federation, which has the next largest membership.

At a dinner given at the Grand Hotel, July 28th, the four hostess federations of Denmark, Finland, Norway and Sweden welcomed the delegates. Dr. Alma Sundquist, President of the Swedish Federation, welcomed the guests on behalf of the Northern Federations. Fröken Hambro, of the Norwegian Federation, explained that the dinner was given at the beginning that friendship might begin at once. Dr. Caroline Spurgeon, as President of the International Federation, thanked the Northern Federations for their wonderful hospitality in this beautiful Viking home of Norway. Dr. Spurgeon was presented with a bouquet of roses from the medical women of Norway, and with Scandinavian music and an exhibition of dancing the delightful dinner was closed.

The opening session on Tuesday was most impressive. All wore academic dress, the sober black of the North American academic gowns contrasting with the gorgeous colors of the doctors of European universities. Two Norwegian students, wearing the black caps with long white tassels which are the distinguishing mark of university scholars of Christiania, headed the procession. Professor Kristine Bonnevie, President of the Norwegian Federation; Professor Halvdan Koht, representing the University of Christiania; Miss Clara Black, President of the Danish Federation; Dr. Jenny af Forselles, President of the Finnish Federation; Dr. Alma Sundquist, President of the Swedish Federation, and Professor Nansen, High Commissioner of the League of Nations, made speeches of welcome. Dr. Nansen's statement, that in the danger of a collapse of European civilization university women must play a great part, compelled the attention of all. Dr. Spurgeon then made the opening speech thanking the speakers for their addresses of welcome and explaining that she had been the head of the Federation since its inception five years ago, now in twenty different countries Federations were forming. Ireland and Switzerland were admitted to membership. The chief piece of business was the planning to raise a million dollars as an endowment fund for fellowships for women in the scholarship world. No national federation was pledged to raise any definite amount, as England, Italy and the United States were still occupied with the international club-houses in London, Rome and Washington. Then Miss Emma Alp, representing the Pacifist student movement of Germany, expressed her hope that Germany might soon be numbered among the members of the International Federation.

The next day and a half were occupied by speeches given by Lady Rhondda and Mrs. Corbett-Ashby, President of the International Suffrage Alliance. Lady Rhondda spoke of the possibility of women being at the top in the field of high finance. Mrs. Corbett-Ashby urged that women enter politics, aiming there to make personal morality identical with political morality. Dean Virginia Gildersleeve, Ph.D., LL.D., of Columbia University, was elected president for 1924-26.

A committee of peace was named to co-operate with the League's committee in its efforts to draw the peoples of the world closer together. Functions and excursions to the beauty spots of Norway were numerous and delightful. The members of the Norwegian Federation had prepared a little badge which the delegates adopted as the permanent badge of the International Federation. The design of blue and gold enamel shows the lamp of learning against a background of blue, broken by the letters I, F, U, W, and round the central disc runs an interlinked chain symbolizing the bonds of friendship which the Federation exists to create and strengthen.

Canada was well represented at this conference by 14 delegates. Among those present were Mrs. Vaughan of Montreal; Miss May Skinner, Miss Laila Scott, Miss Lexa Denne, Miss Helen McEwan of Toronto; Mrs. R. F. McWilliams of Winnipeg; Mrs. D. J. Thom of Regina. It is with pleasure that some of us less fortunate read the articles and listen to the speeches of Canada's able representatives.

CROSBY HALL

CROSBY Hall is not only a unique and beautiful example of fifteenth century domestic architecture, it is a part of the history of England. Built as the "great hall" of the magnificent house of Sir John Crosby, a rich and renowned merchant of the City of London, it speedily became the centre of a princely hospitality enjoyed by the nobility of England and the envoys of foreign Powers. For a short time it was a royal residence, occupied by Richard of Gloucester while he plotted his way to the throne. Shakespeare, who lived near Crosby Place, refers three times in King Richard III to the usurper's tenancy. Queen Elizabeth and her suite attended a banquet given there by Sir John Spencer. It was one of the few buildings which escaped the Great Fire of 1666, and although it suffered considerable damage from other fires, the Hall itself and one or two principal rooms were still standing in Bishopsgate at the beginning of the twentieth century. But in 1907 it appeared to be doomed. The ground was urgently needed for business premises, and all efforts to preserve the Hall on its original site failed. It was, however, possible to secure the preservation of the fabric, which was carefully taken to pieces and eventually removed to Chelsea.

To-day Crosby Hall stands by the river at Chelsea, on ground which was once the garden of Sir Thomas More. The beautiful stonework of the windows, the vaulting of the Oriel, and the superb carved oak ceiling, which are the glory of the old hall, have been reverently fitted together again; nineteenth century additions have been removed, and the place presents very much its original appearance. It is owned at present by the University and City Association which offers the British Federation of University Women the 500 years' lease of the Hall and an excellent adjoining building site for the nominal sum of £10,000. In addition to building a residential wing for students and a library, it is proposed to erect a gallery for a collection of the pottery and pictures of two well-known artists, William and Evelyn Morgan, donated by Mrs. Stirling.

The need of a Hall of Residence in London for University women doing post-graduate work is increasingly urgent. Every year more women come to London to enjoy the educational and research facilities offered by the University, the British Museum, the Imperial College of Science and other institutions. Crosby Hall provides a home full of the inspiration of historic tradition and furthers the development of friendly relations among educated women of all countries.

INTERNATIONAL HOUSE

IT is a thing delightful to contemplate. There is a sunny corner in the refectory, for instance, where a Canadian girl and a graduate nurse from Sofia are chattering in German about Bulgarian hospital equipment, Bulgarian primary schools, and Bulgarian railway policies. Breakfast has become a meal to linger over, not to bolt. Couples and trios and quartettes in all parts of the bright room are gaily discussing professors and curricula, home news and foreign news, plans for hikes and special interest group meetings, concerts, plays and doctoral dissertations, in a dozen different languages. Up in the Home Room a Japanese law student spins an obedient globe to show an American engineer the precise location of his home city, Nagoya, and then goes on to discuss with him the bridges he has seen in the Andes. A Swede and an Arab on the richly embroidered couch in the far corner are conversing in perfect French—seemingly about the Democratic candidate for the Presidency of the United States. The Great Hall of evenings is a-buzz with voices—knots of men and women lingering for a while in its comfortable atmosphere after supper to enjoy a half-hour or an hour of sociability before retiring to the privacy of their own book-filled dens. The rich variety of colour and dress and gesture and intonation fill each day with fresh realization of the cultural wealth of the world.

But International House is much more than a pleasing pageant of paradoxical racial combinations. It is a definite adventure in international friendship. It is, first of all, a home. A home where personal comfort has been provided for with an almost meticulous care and forethought. A home whose furnishings have been designed by artists. A home whose five or six hundred members regard themselves as constituting a single family. A home where diversity of religion, political opinion, temperament, and interests expresses itself not through irritating misunderstandings, but through friendly contributions to a common fund of mutual understanding.

There has long existed in New York an Intercollegiate Cosmopolitan Club whose purpose has been to bind together by ties of personal friendship the future leaders of many lands whom circumstance has thrown together for a few brief months in New York City. But until this year the Club has never had a home of its own. It has felt the handicap. International House, newly opened this September, is thus the realization of long-cherished hopes. It purposes establishing the tradition of being the friendliest place in the world. And in no effeminate or sentimental fashion has it set about the founding of the tradition. Dignity and naturalness mark the activities of the cosmopolitan groups. Scope is given, too, for full and original expression of nationalistic feeling in the various National Nights, which set the stage of the great auditorium glowing with the pride of race, and of national culture. Frankness and good nature in the discussion of international politics becomes less impossible when the background is, as here, one of friendly and intimate intercourse. To a remarkable degree has the ideal of such frank and good-natured discussion been achieved in the periodic meetings of the International Students' Assembly, where debates on burning problems of the day take place between elected representatives of various national groups. For the experiment works. The adventure, that is to say, proceeds gallantly.

Twenty Canadian women students are sharing this year the privileges of residence in International House. They come from the North and the South and the East and the Centre and the West. They all hope to return to the Dominion when their courses are completed. And when they do so they will bring back with them a rich experience of international friendship whose significance will grow steadily clearer as the exchange of thought and experience between the nations of the world grows more frequent and more natural and more indispensable in the coming decade.

ANNUAL MEETING

Of the Queen's University Alumnae Association, November, 1924

THE Annual meeting of the Queen's University Alumnae Association was held Saturday, November 8, 1924, in Convocation Hall. The President, Miss Charlotte Whitton, presiding, called the meeting to order at 9.30 a.m.

MORNING SESSION

The minutes of the last annual meeting having been printed in the Alumnae News, and carefully examined by the Executive Committee, it was moved by Miss Muir, seconded by Miss MacKintosh, that they be taken as read. Carried.

The Secretary read her report. Moved by Miss Birch, seconded by Miss May Chown, that this report be received and adopted.

In the absence of the Treasurer, her report was read by the Secretary. Total revenue for the year, including balance of $201.41 (1922-23), was $708.15. Total disbursement $630.63, leaving a balance 1923-24 of $77.52. On motion by Miss Birch, seconded by Mrs. Ross, this report was received and adopted.

Miss Whitton pointed out that expenses were incurred that were not anticipated for another year.

The reports of Standing Committees were then presented as follows:

Household Science

Convener, Miss Holland. Read by Miss Hall. Miss Holland studied the courses on Household Science, offered at Macdonald College, in connection with McGill University, visiting that department in St. Anne's, but felt that the expense of such a course at Queen's would be a deterrent to establishing such at present. Moved by Miss Hall, seconded by Mrs. Blackburn, that this report be adopted.

Alumnae News

Convener, Miss Laura E. Allan. Miss Allan having been successful in securing $130 worth of advertising, urgently requested the members to patronize our advertisers, pointing out that The News might be made entirely self-supporting if members would order their book supplies from these publishers whose ads appear in this edition and others who desire Queen's patronage. An addition of a Book Review Department and a change in cover color and in binding are the chief improvements this year. On motion of Miss Allan and Mrs. Lavell this report was received and adopted.

The Avonmore

Convener, Mrs. O. D. Skelton; read by Mrs. Graham. Mrs. Skelton, after paying tribute to the good work of Mrs. Leadbeater, reported that the work of the committee had been wholly routine. The home was kept open for summer students, and at the closing of the summer school, underwent its annual renovation. Relying on academic standing of the girls, when awarding rooms and table board, works out most satisfactorily. The lease on the Avonmore expires Sept. 1st, 1925, and on the Goodwin House on May 1st, 1925. Moved by Mrs. Graham, seconded by Miss Muir, that this report be received and adopted.

Employment of Women Students

Convener, Miss May Chown. In presenting her report Miss Chown showed that the tendency of the committee is to do most of the work among the Alumnae, and stressed the point that any one going in for any business or executive work should miss no opportunity to learn typing. On motion of Miss Chown, seconded by Miss E. Guthrie, this report was received and adopted.

Membership

Convener, Miss Cattanaçh. Read by Mrs. Gillies. This report showed the splendid increase in membership to 327, an increase of 85 over membership at the time of any previous annual meeting, owing to an intensive campaign carried on by the Convener and Treasurer. Mrs. Gillies moved, seconded by Miss Campbell, that this report be received and adopted.

Book of Views

Convener, Miss May Chown:

Cost of Book of Views	$1,073.98
Receipts	936.75

Deficit	$ 137.23
---------------	-----------

The adoption of this report, moved by Miss Chown and seconded by Mrs. Graham, was carried, with the suggestion that a complimentary copy be sent to the Chancellor, Sir Robert Borden.

Representation of Women

Convener Mrs. Graham reported that the Committee was unsuccessful in securing a candidate for University Trustee, including in her report the recommendation of the Executive, viz.: "In view of the fact that this Committee on Representation of Women has been unable to get a candidate whom it has consulted, it was moved by Miss Chown, seconded by Miss Clifford, that the Executive report to the Association as being against putting up a candidate for Trustee at the present time." Mrs. Graham, seconded by Mrs. Miller, moved adoption of this report. Moved in amendment by Miss Gordon, seconded by Miss Campbell, that the President of the four branches, together with the President of the Alumnae and Convener of Representation of Women be a Committee to attempt to get a candidate for Trustee. The amendment carried. The adoption of the report with the amendment also carried.

Owing to a misunderstanding of the procedure of electing a University Councillor, Mrs. Graham read the by-law dealing with this, and further announced, that Miss Margaret MacKintosh had been appointed to the Council at the May meeting, and that Mrs. Newlands and Mrs. Lavell had accepted nominations from the Executive for re-election to the Council.

Unfinished Business

The Secretary read a communication from Mrs. Walter Vaughan, President of the Canadian Federation of University Women, also the report of the Executive meeting of the Federation of October 11th at Ottawa. Moved by Miss Campbell, seconded by Miss Clifford, that owing to the very special effort being put forth by the Alumnae to reach the objective of the Residence Fund, we advise the Federation that we regret the impossibility of increasing our scholarship appropriation. Carried. It was moved by Miss Chown, seconded by Mrs. Lavell, that the sum due the Scholarship be apportioned by the Executive to the four branches, on a basis of membership. Carried.

● Residence

Miss Redden, Treasurer of Residence Fund, presented the following statement:—

Amount paid University, on contract.....	$52,691.68
In bonds	40,000.00
Balance, Book of Views	137.23
Balance on hand	4,138.16
	$96,967.07

Miss MacKintosh, convener of Residence Committee, supplemented Miss Redden's statement by explaining that of the $15,000 guarantee all but $4,400 has been discharged. This leaves little doubt of the objective being reached by May, 1925. Miss MacKintosh pointed out the difficulty of getting interest aroused outside of organized centres. The teachers taking summer courses in Toronto sent a contribution of $300. Queen's summer school also sent the same amount.

Notice of Motion Re Fee

After the reading of the recommendation of the Executive: "In view of the fact that $93.00 of the expenditure this year are due to expenses in connection with the Residence, that are not likely to occur again, and in view of the fact that the Alumnae News is becoming more nearly self-supporting, it is moved by Miss Clifford, seconded by Mrs. Graham, that the Alumnae fee during the year be kept at one dollar." Miss Muir pointed out that while not anxious to press the motion, viz., that fee be increased to $2, she did stress the point that either one of two things must be done, an increase in fee or retrenchment in expenses. On putting the amendment to the meeting, it was carried by a large majority. The motion was lost.

Reports From the Branches

Toronto Branch—Mrs. Ross gave a full report for Toronto branch, showing the year's programme to have been most interesting and varied, with lectures, dinner-dances and an address on College Life in Residence by the Dean of Victoria College Women Students, Miss Addison. With a membership of fifty-four, the fund for the residence reached $2,072, with promises of $700 more.

Ottawa Branch—Miss Campbell reported a successful year for this branch, which had been organized in February. A tea and money shower, as well as bridge, lecture and garden party, were held, totalling $450.

Kingston Branch—Miss Hall reported that $1,082.72 had been raised for Residence Fund, by means of bridge, teas and money shower at the home of the President, Miss May Chown.

Montreal Branch—Mrs. Blackburn reported for this, the newest branch, organized in April, with a membership of twenty-two. Meetings are held once a month with a speaker and a musical programme. The wives of Alumni and extra-mural students are asked to become Associate Members of this branch.

In connection with the summer meeting it was asked that a notice be sent to the Alumnae News that all Queen's graduates in Toronto in the Summer months, should register at the University Women's Club, 72 Bloor Street West.

During the year two greatly valued members of the Association have been called by death, Miss Anna Sinclair and Miss Reta Hiscock. Feeling the loss sustained through their death, the Association directed that letters be sent to the families of these late members.

AFTERNOON SESSION

The report of the Building Committee was read by Mrs. MacGillivray (as this report and that of Furnishings Committee are to be printed in the Alumnae News, no comment here is called for). Furnishings Committee report was given by Mrs. McPhail, Convener. This report, with the added suggestion of the Executive, "That a letter be sent to the Registrar acknowledging his letter to the Furnishings Committee, with thanks for the offer of cafeteria equipment that might be useful in Ban Righ Hall, further suggesting to Dr. McNeill that as soon as Rugby team finishes training (cafeteria training quarters), we be allowed to put in a man to clean up the equipment and have it stored until we can use it," was adopted on motion of Mrs. MacPhail, seconded by Miss Guthrie.

It was moved by Miss Macdonnell, seconded by Mrs. Graham, that a standard price be arrived at to cover one room and a donor be granted the privilege of having a name plate. Carried.

Providing we have discharged our $15,000 guarantee by May, it was moved by Miss Chown, seconded by Mrs. MacGillivray, that the Executive have the privilege of asking the Trustee Board to advance $15,000 at best interest possible to enable us to go ahead with the furnishing. Carried.

The Committee asked for an expression of opinion on buying only from city firms. This was left to the discretion of Committee.

On question of Miss Macdonnell re continuance of Earl Street Residence, Mrs. MacGillivray, as a member of the Earl Street Residence Committee, replied that a meeting of that Committee will be held and a report sent to the Executive.

On a question of information as to any agreement with the University in regard to condition on which Goodwin House will be handed over to Alumnae Association at lease expiry, it was moved by Miss Macdonnell, seconded by Miss Gordon, that the matter of arranging repairs at Goodwin House be referred to the Avonmore Committee and the question be taken up with the Registrar. Carried.

Residence Administration

As Dr. Marty did not send in a report, on motion of Miss Chown, seconded by Miss Macdonnell, a Committee composed of present and new President, with Dr. Marty and Mrs. MacGillivray, confer with the Principal and Mr. Nickle and report back to the Executive.

It was moved by Miss Gordon, seconded by Miss Macdonnell, that the Committee on Administration appoint one of its members as Convener of a sub-committee to inquire into the conditions of admission to Ban Righ Hall, such as academic standing and proportion of first year girls. Carried.

Nominations Committee

Miss May Chown brought in the following report:

President—Mrs. Geo. Ross, Toronto.

1st Vice-President—Miss May Macdonnell, Kingston.

2nd Vice-President—Miss Dora Stock, Hamilton.

3rd Vice-President—Mrs. Norman MacRostie, Ottawa.

Secretary—Miss Ada Birch, Kingston.

Treasurer—Miss Jessie Connor, Ottawa.

Miss Campbell moved, seconded by Miss Muir, that nominations for President close. Carried.

Mrs. Ross took the chair, the meeting enthusiastically expressing approval and pleasure at her election.

As there were no further nominations for the three Vice-Presidents, Secretary and Treasurer, it was moved by Mrs. Lavell, seconded by Miss Whitton, that the Secretary prepare a ballot for these offices and the balloting for Councillors resulted in the election of:—Mrs. George Young, Toronto; Miss Eva Coon, Windsor; Mrs. Alan Blackburn, Montreal; Miss Margaret MacKintosh, Ottawa; Miss Ferna Halliday, Chesley; Mrs. D. D. Calvin, Toronto; Miss Elizabeth Smith, Ottawa.

Mrs. John MacGillivray moved a most hearty vote of thanks to Miss Charlotte Whitton, retiring President. With a few words in her inimitable style, she expressed the feelings of those who have come in close touch during her presidency, "The better I know her, the better I like her." Mrs. MacGillivray asked that Miss Whitton be appointed to the Building Committee.

Mrs. Ross most gracefully presented this vote of thanks to Miss Whitton.

Miss Clifford moved a vote of thanks to the remaining members of the Executive. In seconding this, Mrs. Lavell asked that Mrs. MacGillivray be given a special clap for the inestimable amount of work she had done on the Building Committee.

Miss Gordon, seconded by Miss Muir, moved that a note be sent Miss Mowat, expressing regret that, through illness, she had been unable to be in active association with the Alumnae.

On motion the annual meeting of 1924 adjourned.

ADA BIRCH, Secretary.

REPORT OF BUILDING COMMITTEE

I N PRESENTING this report, I feel like paraphrasing Sir Christopher Wren: If you wish to see what has been accomplished, look at the Residence.

The path of the Committee during the last two years has not always been a smooth one, but the hills of difficulty which have risen before us from time to time, have vanished as we approached them.

As you doubtless remember, the tenders which were opened on Nov. 8th of last year, exceeded the estimates by about $40,000, all of them being in the neighborhood of $200,000. The architects were then instructed to see in what way any possible savings could be made, and on the 28th they suggested changes which would reduce the cost considerably. Of those the most important item and one which saved $12,000, was to use wood floor framing and floors as in the Isolation Hospital, instead of the gypsum slabs as originally specified. This change was one which we regretted, as the building is not absolutely fireproof, but it is still, as the architects said, very high-grade. The other changes were all less drastic.

The architects were then instructed to call for revised tenders on the basis of the proposed modifications and these tenders were received on Dec. 10th. The lowest were still found to be about $15,000 in excess of the sum available.

It seemed for a time as though the undertaking would be at a standstill, for the Finance and Estates Committee were unwilling to go ahead unless the Association had the extra sum on hand. However, through the efforts of the President, two good friends of ours, the Hon. Mr. Hayden and Mr. G. F. Henderson, together with four members of the Association, signed a bond making themselves responsible for the amount required.

After a good deal of discussion, in March the contract with the Dickie Co. was finally signed, with the proviso that any savings which might be effected would be to our advantage. I should point out that the aim of the architects has been, all through, to give us the best possible value for our money.

One reason for having the work begun as early as possible was to take advantage of the cheaper rates at which the stonecutters were prepared to work and which meant a saving of several thousands of dollars.

At a meeting held in May to consider some minor money-saving changes, it was suggested that Mr. Wm. McCartney be engaged as our special supervisor, it being known that Mr. McCartney had given excellent service in connection with different hospital buildings. After two interviews with Mr. McCartney, he was engaged by the University at a salary of $75 a month, his duties beginning on June 1st. Every month a report comes from him as to the progress of the work, and several changes which he has suggested have been carried out.

Through the summer, the only question which had to be settled by the Building Committee was the contract for the tunnel to connect the Residence with the heating plant. Here there was another disappointment. When the first tenders were opened it was found that the lowest was about $14,000, almost double what we had counted on.

Mr. Thomas was asked if he could not change his plans in any way. This he did, with the result that the next tender was in the neighborhood of $7,000. By the first plan, hot water was brought directly to the Residence, by the second, which was the original plan of the architects, steam is brought to the building and the water heated by it. Mr. Thomas stated that the heating from this method, while not so ideal as the other and requiring some supervision in the building, ought to be quite satisfactory.

Respectfully submitted,

ANNIE G. MACGILLIVRAY, Convener.

REPORT OF FURNISHINGS COMMITTEE

DURING the summer it was impossible for this committee to meet, its members are so scattered; in fact a proper meeting has not yet been held, but the Convener begs to report what steps have been taken.

In September a letter was received from the Registrar of the University, enclosing an inventory of the equipment of the cafeteria (which is being dismantled), and offering any or all that could be used in Ban High Hall. Several members of the Committee looked it over, and decided that much could be used; the University has promised to dispose of none of it until we have taken what we want.

Letters were written to several out-of-town firms, and the local merchants were interviewed on the subject of estimates on complete bedroom furniture. Replies have been received, while the T. Eaton Co., unsolicited, sent a representative with samples of linen, rugs, etc., etc., who stated that his firm was prepared to furnish the entire Residence, and would begin at once! Cuts of pieces of furniture were submitted by Eaton and Simpson, and these are appended.

A letter was received from the head of the Lindsay Piano Co. offering a special discount, together with a personal donation.

A few rugs were purchased from the T. F. Harrison Co. at cost price, and stored in the University. These have not been paid for; Mrs. MacGillivray and your Convener were the available members of the Committee at the time of the sale, and are responsible for the purchase, which seemed to them a very good one.

This, up to date, is what has been accomplished.

Respectfully submitted,

LOUISE B. MACPHAIL, Convener.

FOURTH ANNUAL DINNER

The social graces held sway on Saturday evening in Grant Hall, where the Alumnae met in joyous reunion, with the girls of the graduating year as their guests.

After a graceful inaugural speech by the new President, Mrs. George Ross, and the customary toast to the King, Miss M. Clifford, Ottawa, proposed the toast to "The University," which was responded to by Miss M. L. Chown, Kingston. Miss Muir, of Ottawa, spoke to "Our Guests," and Miss V. White, President of the final year, responded. Miss Charlotte Whitton, the retiring President, gave "Canada" in her usual graphic style; reply was made by the guest-of-honor, Mrs. Charles Thorburn, who was Commissioner for Canada at Wembley. Her address was a most interesting description of the British Empire Exhibition. Miss Kathleen Elliott, of the final year, gave two pleasing songs, and "Auld Lang Syne" brought another memorable Queen's gathering to a close.

JULY MEETING OF THE ALUMNAE ASSOCIATION

The annual summer dinner of the Queen's Alumnae Association was held in the Yellow Room of the King Edward Hotel, Toronto, on Monday, July 14, at seven o'clock. In the absence of the President, Miss Whitton, the chair was taken by Miss Flora Stewart, President Toronto Branch. Professor J. F. Macdonald of the Department of English, came up from Kingston for the occasion and gave an address on the subject of contemporary English writing. Drawing upon examples of present-day literature, he made a plea for clearer and more forceful writing, especially on the part of college women. An enthusiastic vote of thanks was moved by Miss Alexandra Howson of Peterboro.

Miss Helen MacKintosh gave a report of the Residence Fund, stating that there was still $11,000 of the $15,000 pledge to be found. In a very few minutes the women present had volunteered to make special attempts to raise funds with the help of colleagues marking examination papers in their own divisions.

Renewing old friendships and singing college songs completed an enjoyable evening, with "Auld Lang Syne" in the time-honoured Queen's way.

Queen's graduates who are in Toronto during the summer months are requested to register at the University Women's Club, 72 Bloor Street West.

NEWS FROM THE BRANCHES

Kingston

The members of the Kingston Alumnae Association met in the Red Room on the first Monday of each month during the autumn and winter. Though the meetings were only fairly well attended the association is fortunate in possessing many active members who are ready to work whenever called on. Graduates of other universities are now admitted as associate members and it is hoped that many will take advantage of the opportunity.

During the year $600 has been turned over to the Residence Fund. This was raised by the association and is quite apart from donations and subscriptions given by individual members. Our money-making schemes are more or less stereotyped from much practice. The most important consisted last year of a Tea Dance in Grant Hall, a large Bridge in Grant Hall in February, and a tea after Convocation. The Alumnae Tea in Grant Hall after the Queen's-Varsity football game has become a regular part of the day's programme. The graduates back for the game are glad to have another party in the old hall and the University shows its approval on such an occasion by donating the services of the orchestra. Over 500 were at the Tea this year.

One of the most pleasant meetings took the form of a dinner in the cafeteria, when Miss Hilda Laird was the speaker of the evening. Her subject was "The League of Nations," and her intimate knowledge of the machinery of the League made her description of it, and of a few of its actual accomplishments along various lines, intensely interesting to her audience.

The Kingston Branch had been asked by the executive committee of the Alumnae Association to interest the Summer School in Ban Righ Hall, and Mrs. Macgillivray was appointed to tell them about the situation of affairs. Thanks to the assistance of Miss Macalister she and our president were invited to the first business meeting of the Summer School in July. Mrs. Macgillivray presented the case in her usual able manner and met with a most cordial reception. A committee with Miss Macalister as convener was straightway appointed to canvass the members and during the session over $300 was collected and turned over to the treasurer of the Residence Fund.

This year we lost one of our most valued members when Miss Reta Hiscock died after a very short illness. She was always an active and interested worker who could be counted on to do more than her share cheerfully and well, and is greatly missed.

The officers elected for this year are as follows: President, Miss May Chown; 1st Vice-President, Miss Mildred Clow; 2nd Vice-President, Miss Irene MacCormack; Secretary, Miss Margaret Hall; Treasurer, Mrs. Day; Councillors: Mrs. Graham, Miss Spooner, Miss O'Donnell, Miss McClelland.

Ottawa

The Ottawa Branch has had the usual busy year; its activities include the dinner with which the year is opened, several sales, a lecture on contemporary English politics by Mr. Radcliffe, and several bridges. As a result of these efforts a sum of over $500 has been raised. To assist in raising the last $9,000 required for the Residence building, a canvass was launched at the Alumnae meeting on November 5. Eleven captains have organized teams and a thorough canvass of Queen's graduates and friends of the University is under way.

The executive for the coming year is made up as follows: President, Miss M. K. Clifford; Vice-President, Miss J. Raitt; Sec.-Treasurer, Mrs. J. J. Dunlop; Councillors: Mrs. A. H. Brown, Miss May O'Neill, Miss Mary Taylor, Miss Kilpatrick and Miss Osborne.

A number of our members spent the past summer abroad: Miss Muir in Paris, Miss Kilpatrick in England, Miss Gilhooly in Ireland, and Miss Clifford in the British Isles and France.

Montreal

On April 9th of this year, in Montreal, there was formed a local branch of the Alumnae Association. Not unmindful were the members of the difficulties of the task before them, but these twenty odd graduates determined, notwithstanding the disadvantage of lying in the shadow of another great university and the large number of diversities offered in a cosmopolitan city, to organize and make themselves a vital factor in the larger organization. And so with earnest endeavor they are pushing forward. The officers elected for the ensuing year were: President, Mrs. S. S. Burns; 1st Vice-President, Miss Catharine Holland; 2nd Vice-President, Miss Beryl Mowat; Secretary, Mrs. Alan Blackburn; Treasurer, Mrs. Gordon Wilson; Representative of Associate Members, Mrs. A. L. Morgan; Convener of Music Committee, Miss Alice Goodwin; Councillors, Mrs. R. F. Kelso, Miss Roberta McLean, Miss Mabel K. Simpson.

As the active membership is small (as mentioned before), the wives of the Alumni were invited to become Associate members, along with the Extra-murals, of whom there are about a dozen.

A well attended tea and reception was held in June with its main purpose being to get to know the members. During the afternoon a musical programme was given. Mrs. S. S. Burns, the President, gave an address of welcome in which she outlined the reasons for forming a separate Montreal Alumnae. Rev. Dr. Alex. Gordon, as guest of honor, also addressed the members.

It is anticipated that this will be a very active and really interesting year for the newly organized branch which started off most auspiciously this autumn, when Principal Taylor journeyed all the way from Kingston specially to address the Montreal Alumnae at their opening meeting.

Queen's Picnic at Dorval Island

By invitation of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Wilson, the Queen's people on Montreal Island packed their baskets and hied themselves forth to Dorval Island (Mr. and Mrs. Wilson's summer abode), one gorgeous July day and spent such a pleasurable time that it will long remain a happy memory. What with swimming and boating and golf and tennis, and to top it all a tour of the interesting old island, the episode had passed into history before we realized it. At the close of the outing Dean Goodwin, in his inimitable way, moved a vote of thanks to the host and hostess for their hospitality, while Rev. J. G. Potter seconded the motion. Among those present were Professor and Mrs. Goodwin, Mrs. Grant Cadenhead, Miss Chrissy Goodwin, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Harpell and the Misses Harpell, Rev. John Chisholm ('84) and Mrs. Chisholm, Mr. H. H. Black ('99), Mrs. Black and their two sons, Dr. and Mrs. R. F. Kelso ('13), Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Malloch ('13) and Miss Mary Elizabeth Malloch ('40), Col. and Mrs. J. G. Archibald, Mr. J. B. Stirling ('09) and the little Misses Jessie and Edith Stirling, Mr. M. J. Aykroyd ('13), Mrs. Aykroyd and Master Maurice and Peter Aykroyd, Mr. L. G. Heimpel, Mrs. Heimpel ('15) and two children, Col. Hugh Walkem, Mrs. S. S. Burns ('94), Mr. W. C. Griesbach ('12), Mrs. Griesbach and children, Mr. A. P. Blackburn ('17) and Mrs. Blackburn ('20), Rev. J. G. Potter ('89), Mr. William C. Goodwin ('11) and Billy, Jr., Mr. Neil Morrison. '23, Mr. B. P. Rapley, '23, Mr. Jos. Hanlon, '22, Mr. Alva Hicks, '23, Mr. V. C. Jones '23, Mr. W. N. Armstrong ('20), Mrs. Armstrong and daughter Iris, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Wilson and children, Gordon, Jr., Davy and Annie, Mr. F. W. Elliott ('23), and others.

Mrs. R. F. Kelso and Mrs. J. J. Harpell Entertain at a Queen's Reception

The activities for the Montreal Branch began with a most delightfully arranged informal reception at "Bellevue," the residence of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Harpell, Senneville Road, Gardenvale, Que., when Mrs. Harpell and Mrs. Kelso entertained the Alumni of Montreal and vicinity. A programme of outdoor sports had been arranged, but due to the inclemency of the weather had to be abandoned. However, the boat-house, with its spacious lounge, overlooking the merging waters of the Ottawa and St. Lawrence rivers, made an ideal if not unique reception hall. And the gay Queen's streamers and large bowls of autumn flowers in shades of red, yellow and blue gave a real Queen's atmosphere to the gathering, which was further accentuated by Queen's yells and songs. During the afternoon bridge was played by some, while others, happy at the opportunity, indulged in conversation. Later dainty refreshments were served by the hostesses and at the close of the reception Rev. J. G. Potter proposed a vote of thanks to the energetic hostesses, while Rev. S. S. Burns seconded it. The guests who attended included: Rev. and Mrs. John Chisholm, Rev. and Mrs. J. G. Potter, Rev. and Mrs. S. S. Burns, Col. and Mrs. G. G. Archibald, Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Black, Mrs. S. Laird, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. L. G. Heimpel, Mr. and Mrs. Bernard E. Norrish, Mr. and Mrs. A. A. MacKay, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Morgan, Mrs. W. M. Goodwin, Mr. and Mrs. Alan Blackburn, Miss Catharine Holland, Miss J. Dunlop, Miss Roberta McLean, Miss Martha Fargey, and the Messrs. A. Hicks, G. M. Parsons, V. C. Jones, and H. C. Nourse.

Montreal Branch Dinner Dance at Ritz-Carlton

The Montreal Branch of Queen's Alumni and Alumnae Associations entertained at a most delightful and well attended dinner dance at the Ritz-Carlton Hotel again this year. Mr. R. O. Sweezy, the President, and Mrs. Sweezy acted as host and hostess for the evening. The speakers for the occasion were Principal Taylor, who gave an interesting account of what was going on at the University, and Professor B. K. Sandwell. Among the guests were Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Black, Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Dawson, Mrs. Laird, Miss Hilda Laird, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Malloch, Mr. and Mrs. J. Charles Grant, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Spearman, Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Blackburn, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Newman, Dr. Alex. Gordon, Mr. and Mrs. Meiklejohn, Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Aykroyd, Mr. and Mrs. A. A. MacKay, and many others.

Toronto

During the past year our branch has had in all seven meetings. The programme was most interesting and varied, and was made up as follows:

An informal reception to our women graduates attending the College of Education; a re-union dinner dance at the King Edward Hotel; a talk by Capt. Baker, National Secretary of the Canadian National Institute for the Blind; a most inspiring lecture on "Some Aspects of Poetry" by Professor John MacNaughton, and delightful songs by Miss Jean Chown; a visit to the Grange, where Mr. Arthur Lismer gave a talk on Canadian Art; a most interesting hour with Mme. Vetch Kowa, a Czechoslovakian, and Mme. Tisseau, from France, two young women sent over by their respective governments to study public health nursing at Toronto University. A fitting closing to our year was a dinner, with sixty Alumnae present, and Miss M. E. T. Addison, Dean of Women Students of Victoria College, the guest of honor. She spoke on College Life in Residence, and it was a real treat to listen to such an authority as Miss Addison describe the practical working out of the ideal for which our Queen's women are striving.

We are pleased to report a growth in numbers over the two preceding years, the paid-up membership being fifty-four.

It is with the feeling of deepest regret that we announce the death of one of our most beloved graduates, Miss Anna Sinclair. At all times we found her kind and sympathetic, and even when she was not able, ready to assist us in any and every undertaking. A woman of wide culture who will be greatly missed by us all.

We feel that our report for the Residence Fund is most encouraging. Toronto, with its own University, is a very difficult centre in which to raise money for our Alma Mater. In spite of this fact we collected:

Subscriptions	$1,435.00
Proceeds from a Bridge	78.25
From the Clock Fund	558.75

Making a total of$2,072.00

It is gratifying to note despite the business depression of the past year that this is the largest amount ever collected in Toronto in any one year.

One of the methods used for raising money is the "Clock." Briefly, this is the plan: One person, the Clock, puts in $1.00. Eight days each contribute 50 cents. Each day secures 24 hours, who put in 25 cents each and also secure 60 minutes worth 10 cents each. The "hour" may give the lump sum of $6.00 (plus the 25 cents), if she prefers, as that is the end of the chain. The total amounts to $1,205. So far the Toronto Clock has gone tick-tock to the extent of $558.75 and it is hoped that the balance may be secured during the next few months. Perhaps some other Branch may like to try the scheme. Our Honorary President, Mrs. Thos. MacMillan, kindly gave her home and assistance last May for a tea in aid of the Clock Fund.

The officers for 1924-25 are: Honorary President, Mrs. Thos. MacMillan; President, Miss Flora Stewart; 1st Vice-President, Miss Helen MacKintosh; 2nd Vice-President, Miss Marion Laird; 3rd Vice-President, Mrs. J. E. Wilkinson; Recording Secretary, Miss Gladys Dix; Corresponding Secretary, Miss Lorraine Shortt; Treasurer, Mrs. C. Wiley; Press Representative, Miss Laura Allan; Conveners of Committees: Residence, Mrs. George Ross; Social, Mrs. W. L. McFarland; Membership, Miss Margaret Govan; Programme, Miss Edna Poole.

Edmonton

The joint Alumni and Alumnae Association of Edmonton hold a Christmas Dance each year and last June had a most enjoyable luncheon.

Among the Queen's Alumnae who visited Edmonton this summer were Miss Goldie Bartels '22, Miss Jessie Macarthur '17, Miss Jo Redmond '12, Miss Ethel Guthrie '15, Miss Kathleen Wingard '12, Mrs. Alex. Brodie (May Shearer '17), Mrs. E. Struthers (Margaret Walks '12), and Mrs. Ralph Scott (Marjorie Wingard '19). Probably a number of others passed through, without giving us information of their doings. Unfortunately it was holiday time for us, too, and we regretted exceedingly being "out of town" when some of the above-mentioned visitors were in our city.

We were delighted with the visits of the "Wingard sisters," as "sonsy" and lovable as ever. Kathleen was the guest of Mrs. R. E. McLaughlin, and Marjorie (Mrs. Ralph Scott) stayed with Mrs. Archie Cameron. Many Queen's Alumnae will remember the hosts mentioned, both of whom graced the halls of Queen's.

On their return from a medical conference, Dr. and Mrs. Alex. Brodie stayed a few days in Edmonton before continuing to their home in Blaine Lake, Sask. It was a great pleasure to see that the cares and responsibilities of life are carried lightly, though efficiently, by "our Mary." Her stories of the doctor's work among the Doukhobors were most interesting.

Under the captaincy of Miss Winnie Martin, B.A. '22, B.Com. '23 (now Mrs. Robert Tait), and the coaching of Mr. J. Percy Page (also a Queen's graduate), the Edmonton Commercial Graduates' Baseball team had a most eventful trip to Europe this summer, after winning Canadian and International titles here. The Canadian Amateur Athletic Union sanctioned the enterprise, but the girls financed their undertaking, raising $11,000 by exhibition matches, to pay expenses of the eight girls, coach and chaperone, Mrs. Page. The Federation Sportive Feminine Internationale, in Paris, arranged exhibition games as well as a championship game with Strasbourg, which team held the European title. The girls had an unbroken succession of victories, securing the official world's title. This honour is to be held until the next games in 1926 at Brussels, when a three-cornered tournament will be held among teams from Europe, United States and Canada. The Edmonton team has now forty consecutive wins to its credit.

Vancouver

The Vancouver joint Alumni and Alumnae Association held its annual meeting and dinner on November 4th, when a new executive was elected. Mrs. A. M. Warner (Lillian Birley, B.A. '12) was elected Second Vice-President, Mrs. S. J. Schofield (Florence Tait, M.A. '12), Assistant Secretary, and Mrs. Page (Edna McCartney, B.A. '19) and Mrs. Singleton, members of the executive.

The dinner was a very successful affair, some eighty being present.

Of course, not all were Queen's graduates, as those married were permitted to bring their wives or husbands. There are over one hundred Queen's graduates in Vancouver, of whom twenty are women. The guests were Dean and Mrs. Coleman, Dr. and Mrs. Buchanan, and Prof. and Mrs. Sage. Dean Coleman proposed the toast to the Alma Mater. This was replied to on behalf of Theology by Dr. E. D. McLaren; Medicine, by Dr. W. F. Coy; Science, by Dean R. W. Brock, and Arts, by Dr. Norman Black of Duke of Connaught High School, New Westminster. Dr. Coy entered the Medical School in 1882; both he and Dean Brock made very interesting speeches recalling the early days of Queen's. The toast to the Levana Society was proposed by Dr. Daniel McLean, and replied to by Miss Isabel McInnes of the University of British Columbia staff.

In her reply she made a splendid appeal to those present for funds on behalf of the Residence Fund at Queen's. The reply was very gratifying, as over four hundred dollars was promised that evening. The committee of Queen's women who are working here for this fund, hope to reach the full amount of $500.00.

EDITORIAL

LIKE Greeks of old, each year Queen's women return to re-kindle their torches at the altar of their Alma Mater, and sit in grave consultation in Convocation Hall with the portraits of College leaders looking on. Grave indeed were the problems discussed on November eighth, and it was evident to the least thoughtful Alumna present that the Executive had carried the Association through a year of special difficulty. And therefore it was with glad hearts that, at the close of the session, we crossed the campus to the Hall, epitome in stone of our dreams. We stood in the Common Room and saw in vision the hearth-fire gleaming on oaken panelling; we visited the Eliza Gordon Memorial Dining Hall, on the ground floor of the wing shown in the photograph on page 4; we inspected every nook and corner and pronounced it all good. Later, in the soft November twilight, we walked up University Avenue to view that other new and proud building, the Douglas Library, and while there, came the news of Queen's triumph at Rugby. It was a happy day.

Many and grave the problems that faced the Association during the past year. Many and grave the problems to be met during the coming year; problems of finance and of administration. In this connection may we urge each member to exercise her franchise and to see to it that the Association's nominees are elected. Mrs. Lavell and Mrs. Newlands are candidates for University Council. Vote for both. As we go to press, no candidate for Trustee has been found. Non-support in previous elections is the cause. When a graduate receives the nomination of the Association and stands ready to spend her time and energy in special service to the University, it is the bounden duty of every Alumna to give unqualified support. Should a candidate for the Board of Trustee be found we urge her election. In these days of stress, representation in the University Government is particularly needed. Use your vote to elect our nominees.

This edition of The News might almost be called a residence number. It deals quite thoroughly with our own Hall, with the anxiety and suspense, with the joy of achievement and anticipation of benefits. Reading the articles, "The Promised Land" and "Ban Righ Hall" should afford the Building Committee much gratification. It was with great excitement that we received these articles, solicited from unknown students. And with greater satisfaction that we noted their trend. Thanks to the writers for their appreciation.

But we do not wrap ourselves in the cloak of isolation, unmoved by the efforts of our sisters in other lands. Crosby Hall will prove a magnificent rendezvous in old London; other club houses are planned in various cities; International House in New York is fulfilling its destiny. The spirit of internationalism, that best preventive of the scourge of war, that great bulwark against the powers of darkness, will grow and flourish in these meeting-places.

We point with pride to the fact that two of our members have this year embarked upon the sea of literature. The story of their journeyings will be found ably described in the Book Review Department.

This, the ninth annual issue of The Alumnae News, is presented to its readers with apology. Assuming the helm in the middle of the year is not conducive to the best work. Here is a chance to "take pen in hand" and send in suggestions for 1925.

BOOK REVIEWS

Gordon of the Lost Lagoon, by Robert Watson. (Toronto: Thomas Allen). $2.00.

This romance of the Pacific Coast, by the author of "My Brave and Gallant Gentleman" and of "The Spoilers of the Valley," is the first novel by this brilliant Canadian writer in three years. It is not a great book but makes pleasant reading with its interesting, healthy love story full of enthusiasm and adventure. Written in the first person with a good deal of boyish gusto, it is in parts positively thrilling. It is the story of Douglas Gordon, a lad of gentle but unknown birth, whose mother is dead and whose father, a restless and adventurous spirit, leaves the boy to be brought up by humble foster parents in the city of Vancouver. His foster mother trains him wisely while she lives, but she dies when he is only twelve years old and from that time on he is thrown on his own resources. By a combination of luck and pluck and innate refinement he makes a place for himself among people of his own proper station and the story leaves him prosperous and happy after many thrilling experiences on a coast steamer, in a wharf warehouse, and later as a beachcomber farther up the coast. The author shows an intimate knowledge of the life of the Western Coast in the many varied and amusing incidents of the story. The book is full of fine descriptions of the rugged scenery and gives one a good deal of information about that part of Canada as well as an excellent idea of the life of the men connected with the shipping activities and of their passionate love for the sea.

The characters are very human and consistent throughout, but there is little or no psychological analysis of thought or motion. They disclose themselves altogether by action and speech. There is, too, a refreshing absence of the sordid problems so minutely dealt with by many modern writers, only the primal and eternal one of two men in love with one lovely girl, Sheila Campbell, the heroine, and their consequent struggle. Altogether it is an entertaining story in which the Airedale 'Bones' plays no small part, and is sure to be popular, especially among the younger readers.

The Little French Girl, by Anne Douglas Sedgewick. (Toronto: Thos. Allen.) $2.00.

With "Tante" Anne Douglas Sedgewick achieved an instant success; it came near to being a great book, for it was vivid, swift and forceful in its movements. A more recent novel, "Adrienne Toner," though a work of high order, was somewhat disappointing to the host of readers whose desire and expectation had been aroused by "Tante." Miss Sedgewick's latest story, "The Little French Girl," does not reach the level of "Tante." While it is beautifully written, full of clever and brilliant and wise observations, it is rather long-drawn out; a careful use of the blue pencil would have added much to the pleasure of the reader and to the strength of the book. The story runs to over 500 pages, but the action is somewhat delayed at the start owing to the rather elaborate description of differences between life in England and in France. No doubt, however, Miss Sedgewick is right in pushing home this vital point, as, of course, the whole story hinges upon it.

"The Little French Girl" is a detailed study of the contrast between the English and the French viewpoints in relation to every-day life. Around that study is woven a love story of absorbing interest, told with great power, and yet with such smoothness and so naturally that one becomes a participant in the happenings.

It is the story of a French girl, Alix, who in her teens is sent by her mother to live with an English family, and its main theme is the contrast and clash between temperament, nationality, religion and moral code. No book of recent fiction that we know of contains such an able and careful study of the subtle variations arising out of French and English environments. It is because of the indiscretions of Alix's mother, Madame Vervier, that the little French girl is sent abroad to make a suitable marriage. Herein lies one of the most subtle contrasts between French and English viewpoint. The author conveys with not a little power the idea that Madame Vervier's wickedness is not so much a sin as an art.

The portrait of Alix is drawn with a strong hand, and we think with a loving one as well. Her gradual conversion to English social standards is convincingly developed. Yet, at the very end, when about to make her permanent home in England, it is plain that, when all is said and done, her spiritual home is to remain in France. In her the author has caught well the clannish spirit of France. Indeed, the book abounds with valuable observations on the essential differences of character of two races separated by a spiritual abyss infinitely wider than the Channel.

An Educational Creed, by A. E. Marty, M.A., LL.D. (Toronto: The Ryerson Press). $1.25.

In the fifty-two pages of her little book entitled "An Educational Creed," Dr. A. E. Marty has presented a comprehensive, practical and withal inspiring view of her subject. It is such a treatment of one of the most vital questions of national life as might be expected from one with the author's somewhat unique qualifications. All readers of the "Alumnae News" know of Dr. Marty's brilliant academic career, her marked professional success in public school, high school and collegiate institute work, her life-long study of educational problems both in Canada and abroad and the unusual distinctions she has enjoyed as the first Canadian woman to be granted an LL.D. degree by a Canadian University and as the first and only woman school inspector in the Dominion of Canada. Moreover, all Queen's women know that the ideals set forth in this "creed" have found consistent expression in the author's untiring and unselfish devotion to the causes in which she believes. Her book is, therefore, assured a cordial reception from the readers of these pages.

But "An Educational Creed" could well stand on its own merits, were the author unknown. An astonishing amount of information is contained in these few pages, much of which will be a revelation even to some more or less directly connected with educational work. The activities of the Home and School Club, forest schools, sight saving and lip reading classes are all too briefly described. The author recommends a new type of education, not yet undertaken in Canada and scarcely past the experimental stage in the United States but already established in England. This is known as the nursery school, which undertakes to care for the mental and physical development of the child of pre-school age. An appeal is also made for "coordination of the efforts of the many organizations promoting adult education."

The little red school house is relegated to its place with the sickle, scythe, and cradle as obsolete machinery. It will, doubtless, still have literary value, as providing local colour for stories of the "good old days," when the teacher "boarded around," lighted the school fire and swept out the building, and when the favorite prank of the school cut-up was to sprinkle pepper or some other enlivening substance on the top of the old box stove. But the modern rural community demands such education as can be provided only by the efficient consolidated school.

As to the much discussed curriculum, Dr. Marty's belief is that the programme of school studies should be so enriched and vitalized as to provide ample means for the harmonious development of all the varied powers of the students whom it serves.

The educational aims set forth in the book are threefold. Individually, the educational system should provide such physical, mental and moral training as shall enable the individual to realize to the fullest degree possible all his powers. Nationally, it must produce the highest type of citizenship and the system must be homogeneous, so that there shall be no cleavage between city and country. Finally, it must transcend the narrow limits of national patriotism and serve the wider ends of world citizenship and world peace. All through the book one feels the same inspiring optimism as was expressed recently by Dr. Augustus Thomas, President of the World Federation of Educational Associations, in his address to the public school teachers of Toronto: *

"In the heart of children the world over lies the possibility of eliminating the hazard of war. . . . We are coming into a new renaissance and when it comes it must be through the training of youth."

The Backwoods Woman—A chronicle of pioneer home life in Upper and Lower Canada, by Isabel Skelton. (Toronto: The Ryerson Press). $2.50.

Every true Canadian will welcome this valuable contribution to Canadian history from the pen of Mrs. Skelton. "The Backwoods Woman" supplements our traditional histories written from the standpoint of politics. It deals, not with wars and treaties, with governors and constitutions, but with the social conditions of the early settlers, laying special emphasis on the part played by the women pioneers.

The first three chapters are biographical sketches of Marie Hebert, the first woman settler; Marie de l'Incarnation, the nun as a frontiers-woman; and Madeleine de Vercheres, the Canadian heroine. The fourth and fifth chapters depict the hardships experienced by the Loyalist mothers and emigrants who came from the Old Country between 1815 and 1850. The latter half of the book describes the many phases of pioneer home-making, from clearing the land, building and furnishing the house, supplying food and clothing, to the social intercourse of those early days.

From the first to the last page of the book one is impressed with the historical accuracy, which is obviously the outcome of painstaking and conscientious delving into all available records. Still more worthy of note is the author's sympathetic insight into the lives of these early settlers, treated throughout with so loving and tender a touch. The scene of the emigrants landing at Grosse Isle, designated in Mrs. Moodie's "Roughing It in the Bush" as "revolting," is transformed by the halo of human understanding that Mrs. Skelton casts around it, into one of appealing interest. The dignity attached to the manual labour and out-door toil of these women pioneers is never lost sight of:

"Her labor was heavy and taxing, but it brought her satisfaction and honor. It was worthy and useful. The world was richer for her toil, and her days were spent in a true partnership with her husband, making a home for their family and laying the foundations of their fortune."

The book contains a number of fine illustrations by the Canadian artist, Mr. C. W. Jeffreys. It should find a place in every good library. The Alumnae of Queen's University have every reason to feel gratified that one of their number has brought distinction to herself and to her Alma Mater by so unique a contribution to Canadian Literature.

Messages of the Four Winds

Relata Refero

'82

The members of the Alumnae Association are delighted to hear that Miss E. L. Mowat of Kingston is on the road to recovery after a long illness.

'86

Mrs. Abbott (Margaret M. Spooner, B.A.) has for a number of years been Superintendent of Nurses at the Home for Incurables in New York City. Among the earliest women graduates of Queen's, Mrs. Abbott keeps in close touch with the doings of the Alumnae Association.

'88

Mrs. Bancroft Oughten (Nettie Ogilvie, M.D.) spent the summer of 1923 visiting in England. She has since returned to her home in La Jolla, California.

'92

Mrs. E. J. Melville (Mary T. Donovan, B.A.) writes breezily from Petersburg, Florida, of the midwinter doings in that famous resort. She had been responsible for an all-Canadian programme of music and poetry at the Carreno Club in December. And even in March more gaiety was being planned—a Carnival Parade, and the formation of a University Women's Club. Dr. and Mrs. Melville spend their summers in Vermont on Lake Champlain, but return each winter to St. Petersburg.

'94

Dr. A. E. Marty, M.A., LL.D., has been the valued President of the Toronto Public School Teachers' Association during the past year. A review of Dr. Marty's book, "An Educational Creed," appears in this magazine.

Mrs. S. S. Burns (Nerva D. McDonald, B.A.) is fulfilling the important office of first president of the newly organized Montreal Branch of the Alumnae Association. And we hear it is being executed in a most capable and enthusiastic manner, despite the somewhat heavy handicap of laboring under the shadow of another great university. Mrs. Burns accompanied her husband, the Rev. Mr. Burns, on a very delightful holiday this summer, spent at the seaside along the Maine coast.

Miss Edna Griffith, B.A., sailed from Vancouver on September 25th to resume her work in China under the China Inland Mission.

Mrs. R. I. Creelman (Lydia A. Lochhead, B.A. '96) resides in Georgetown, Ont., but despite her proximity to Queen's, her only daughter, Alice, is attending McGill and pursuing a combined Arts-Med. course. The combined course unfortunately is not offered at Queen's to women students or perhaps another fair co-ed might not have wandered from the fold.

Miss Edith Rayside, B.A., R.R.C., M.H.Sc., formerly Matron of the Montreal General Hospital, has gone to Hamilton, where she has received an appointment as Matron of the Hospital.

'97

Miss Sophia E. Marty, M.A., spent the summer with Dr. Marty at their charming summer home, "Avalon", at Lake Rosseau. The Canadian Chataguay was held on the island this season with Canadian Authors' Week as a special attraction.

Miss Violet Smith, B.A., is head of the French department in Oshawa Collegiate Institute.

Miss Elizabeth Henstridge, M.A., examined papers in Toronto in the summer, attended the July meeting there, and visited the Adirondacks and Montreal.

Mrs. John Gillies (Margaret Russell, B.A.) of Braeside attended the annual meeting of the Alumnae Association as the guest of Miss May Ross.

Miss Annie Gordon, B.A., is returning to Smyrna, to take up her duties in the American College, which is being rebuilt after destruction by Turkish troops. For twenty-three years she has taught in the Orient, having gone to Turkey in 1901. While awaiting an opportunity to return to Smyrna she is teaching in the American College near Athens.

'98

Miss Flora Stewart, B.A., has been elected President of the Toronto Branch of the Queen's University Alumnae Association for a second year.

'99

Mrs. Geo. S. Young (Eva Greenhill, B.A.) accompanied Dr. Young on a summer trip to the coast.

Miss Laura E. Allan, B.A., was again elected Treasurer of the Toronto Branch, Canadian Women's Press Club.

Mrs. G. E. Mackinnon (Flossie Gardiner) motored to Kingston this summer from her home in Lachine, Que.

Miss Ada Birch of Kingston is the efficient Secretary of the Alumnae Association.

'00

Mrs. Logie Macdonnell (Ursilla Macalister, M.A., Ph.D.) spent four months in London, England, doing research work in history.

Mrs. J. A. MacNaughton (Janet Barr, B.A.) is teaching Moderns in the Arnprior High School.

Miss Donella McRae, B.A., is practising law in Toronto.

'01

Mrs. O. D. Skelton (Isabella Murphy, M.A.) is being congratulated on the publication of her book, "The Backwoods Woman."

Mrs. Herbert J. Newman (Sadie Potter) sailed early in November for Europe, where she expects to spend the winter travelling in the British Isles and on the continent. She expects to remain for the most part in Italy visiting friends.

'03

The sympathy of the members of the Alumnae Association is extended to Miss Marion Redden, B.A., of Kingston, who lost her father on February 23. Miss Redden will spend the winter on the continent.

Mrs. W. W. Cross (Kathleen McConkey, B.A.) was recently selected by college graduates resident in Winnipeg to be the President of the flourishing University Women's Club of that city. The club is an exceedingly active one, its membership list having been increased by 118 new names last year. Its field of interest is wide, and Mrs. Cross is piloting it through another very successful year of its existence.

Mrs. Wm. Campbell (Lily Shaw, B.A.) of Kingston attended the funeral of her aunt, Mrs. Samuel Shaw, in Philadelphia in September.

'04

Mrs. J. F. Brander (May Purdy, B.A.) spent a very pleasant holiday at the coast this summer.

Mrs. M. A. F. Lindsay (Mabel E. Aylesworth, B.A.) has gone to Battleford, Saskatchewan, where she is acting, under the Presbyterian Women's Missionary Society, as Assistant Matron at the Battleford School Home.

Miss Kate McKellar, B.A., standing well to the fore in the teaching profession in Calgary, had a most interesting motor trip to the coast this summer.

'05

Mr. and Mrs. George H. Ross (Isabel S. Bryson, B.A.) and their two little daughters, Shirley and Phyllis, spent the summer in La Jolla, California, with Dr. Mary G. Bryson, who has been living there for the last five years. On their way down they spent a few days in Denver at the Convention of the Kiwanis Club International, of which Mr. Ross is a past president. Mrs. Ross has been elected President of the Alumnae Association.

Miss Wilhelmina Gordon, M.A., was a visitor to England and France this summer.

'06

Miss Irene McCormack, B.A., took the Saguenay trip this summer.

Miss Marguerite O'Connell, B.A., is continuing her work as teacher of French, German and Spanish at Jarvis Street Collegiate, Toronto.

On October 15, in St. James' Church, Kingston, a pretty wedding was solemnized, when Olive May, youngest daughter of the late Henry Burns, was married to Mr. L. Lin Knox, son of the late John Knox and Mrs. Knox of Goderich, the Rev. T. W. Savary officiating. The bride, who was unattended, wore a smartly tailored suit of navy blue with a French over blouse of grey. A small grey Paris hat with a touch of blue completed her costume. Her flowers were ophelia roses and lilies-of-the-valley. Immediately following the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Knox left on a short trip to Montreal. Later they will reside at Goderich, where Mr. Knox holds the position of Clerk and Treasurer.

Miss Mary McEachran, B.A., attended the July meeting in Toronto of the Alumnae Association.

Mrs. W. B. Race (Mary B. Harkness, M.A.) of Brantford, has two little girls, Virginia and Isabel.

Miss F. Marguerite Carr-Harris, who for the past four years has been engaged in public health work in the Rainy River and Thunder Bay Districts of New Ontario, is spending the winter in New York City, where she is in attendance at Teachers' College. Miss Carr-Harris was recently honoured by the Canadian National Committee on Mental Hygiene, which selected her to be the bearer of the Laura Spelman Rockefeller Scholarship for 1924-1925. After completing her studies in New York, Miss Carr-Harris expects to undertake special work in parent training under the direction of the Canadian National Committee on Mental Hygiene.

Miss Edna Poole, B.A., of the Academy of Medicine, Toronto, went abroad last summer with the Major Ney party.

Mrs. G. A. Brown (Lily Stewart, B.A.) has returned to the Limestone City to live. Her husband, the Rev. G. A. Brown, is now in charge at Chalmers Church.

Miss Margaret Clifford, M.A., B.Paed., is President of the Ottawa Branch of the Queen's University Alumnae Association.

Mrs. S. R. Beckett (Annie MacFarlane, B.A.) is spending the year in Chicago with her husband, Professor Beckett, of the University of British Columbia, who is there studying for his doctor's degree.

'08

Miss Winewood MacKenzie, B.A., of the Kitsilano High School staff, Vancouver, is on leave of absence until the end of this year.

Miss Isabel MacInnes, M.A., of the staff of the University of British Columbia, has been doing Ph.D. work in Leland Stanford University.

Miss Jessie J. MacKenzie, M.A., is vice-principal of South Vancouver College.

Miss Gordon L. Fraser (Annie L. Reive, B.A.) has removed from Medicine Hat to Walkerville, Ont.

Mrs. W. McIntosh (Pauline Pratt, B.A.) has charge of the commercial department of the Brockville Collegiate Institute.

'09

Miss Helena Raitt, B.A., attended the Teachers' Convention at Victoria, B.C., in August.

Miss Frederika Summerby, B.A., is taking a postgraduate course at Queen's University.

The sympathy of the Alumnae is extended to Miss Mary L. Mac-donnell, M.A., in her bereavement through the sudden death early in the spring of her father, who for a great many years had been a prominent lawyer in Kingston. Miss Macdonnell spent the summer at Oxford, England.

Miss Margaret Hall, B.A., was a member of the Cuthbert party who motored through England and then visited the continent this summer.

Miss Florence O'Donnell, B.A., spent the summer with her sister, Mrs. Read, in Rochester.

Mrs. H. S. Woodsworth (Ada Chown, B.A.) spent the summer in Korea visiting the diamond mines, with her husband, who is Dean of the University at Kobe, Japan.

Mrs. Gordon Wilson (Agnes Fargey, B.A.), who has always been such an enthusiastic Queen's graduate, showed her colors again this year and gave a delightfully arranged bridge party to help raise funds for Ban Righ Hall, and by her efforts the treasurer of said Hall received a subscription for twenty-five dollars. Her guests included Mrs. H. H. Black, Mrs. Leonard Birkett, Mrs. S. S. Burns, Mrs. A. F. Byers, Mrs. C. W. Burroughs, Mrs. Charles Grant, Mrs. J. J. Harpell, Mrs. R. F. Kelso, Mrs. A. A. Mackay, Mrs. A. C. Malloch, Mrs. A. L. Morgan, Mrs. R. O. Sweezy, Mrs. W. C. Griesbach, Mrs. Chas. Spearman, Mrs. Alan P. Blackburn, Miss Martha Fargey, B.A., Miss Mildred Tait, B.A., Miss Catherine Holland, B.A., Miss Roberta McLean, B.A., Miss Mabel Simpson and Miss Jennie Dunlop.

Miss Alexandra Howson, B.A., formerly of the Niagara Falls Collegiate staff, is now on the staff of the Collegiate in her home town, Peterboro.

Mrs. R. O. Sweezy (Harriet Watson), B.A.) and her younger daughter, Eleanor, spent five weeks early last spring at Daytona Beach, where the latter was convalescing after an operation for appendicitis. Florida proved a splendid tonic and did its work well. Mrs. Sweezy, who has been devoting some time to painting, was able to do several water colors of the beautiful beach with its tall and graceful palms. This summer, accompanied by her three children, she motored to Peak's Island, Maine, where she took a cottage for six weeks at the seaside.

Mrs. M. G. Williams (Lulu Philp, B.A.), of Vancouver, is spending the winter in Kobe, Japan.

'10

Miss Geraldine Hazard, M.A., has for several years held the interesting position of Secretary in the Picton office of the Ontario Department of Agriculture.

Mrs. J. C. McCartney (Nellie Spooner, B.A.) is the proud mother of a fine boy, John Stuart.

On August 4, at St. Andrew's Church, Kingston, by the Rev. J. W. Stephen, Jeannette Campbell, daughter of the late Hew Ramsay Duff, Lt.-Col. P.A.M.C., Kingston, was married to John Paul Sykes of Ottawa.

Miss Nellie Philp, B.A., of Lindsay, is substituting in the Science Department of Kingston Collegiate Institute.

'11

Mrs. W. G. Ross (Dorothea L. Scott, B.A.) returned to her home in Moose Jaw, Saskatchewan, after a six months' sojourn in San Diego, California. Mrs. Ross' two children were with her on the southern trip.

Mrs. W. L. Uglow (Mattie Robertson, B.A.) did not accompany her husband on his summer expedition north but remained at her Vancouver home with her young daughter. Mrs. Uglow is not fond of such sea trips.

Miss May Chown, B.A., is President of the Kingston Branch of the Queen's University Alumnae Association.

Mrs. S. D. Harrison (Laura Greer, B.A.) was visiting in Vancouver with her little girl this summer.

Mrs. G. H. Herriott (Marion Hewton, M.A.) with her three children is now living in Winnipeg. Professor Herriott has been appointed Assistant Professor in Civil Engineering at Manitoba University.

Miss Helen Denne, B.A., has been appointed Professor of Nursing and Superintendent of Nurses in the new five-year combined Arts and Nursing Course at the University of Wisconsin.

'12

Miss Blanche L. Thibault, B.A., has joined the staff of Picton Collegiate Institute. Her subject is Moderns.

Mrs. S. J. Schofield (Florence Tait, M.A.) has returned from China, where she had been with her husband, who was working on a geological survey for the British Government, and is residing in Vancouver.

Mrs. A. M. Warner (Lilian Birley, B.A.) is very pleasantly located in Vancouver and has a fine son, David.

Mrs. E. Struthers (Margaret Walks, B.A.) was in Vancouver on her way back to Tsinan, Shantung, China, after a pleasant furlough at home.

A very pretty wedding was solemnized, August 7th, at the home of the bride's brother, Dr. W. C. Redmond, when Miss Josephine Redmond, B.A., was united in marriage with Lieut. R. Howard Elliott, M.C., B.S.A. Best wishes for all happiness go with Mr. and Mrs. Elliott to their new home in Camrose, Alberta.

Mrs. R. J. Gillen (May Blacklock, B.A.) has removed from Kelliher, Sask., to Winnipeg, while her husband is attending Manitoba University.

Miss Vena Bleakley, B.A., is teaching Mathematics at the Norberry School, St. Vital, Winnipeg.

Miss Lillian Hudson, of the Nursing Education Department at Teachers' College, Columbia University, has returned from Russia, where in company with an American social worker, she spent several months earlier in the year, conducting a health survey at the invitation of the Soviet authorities.

Mrs. J. Moxley (Irene Dunlop, B.A.) motored from Hamilton last August with Dr. Moxley to visit her parents in Kingston.

Mrs. F. C. Casselman (Cora Watt, B.A.) spent the early summer at the Pacific coast. "Cora" is the torch-bearer for Alumnae activities in Edmonton. At the Western Canada Tennis Championship tournament in Regina in August, she had the good luck to be teamed with Mrs. Bourque of Edmonton, who is the winner of the ladies' singles of Western Canada. The Edmonton pair were runners-up for the Ladies' Doubles title, losing out in the finals to the Saskatchewan champions, after three close-fought sets.

Among those who enjoyed a trip to Vancouver this summer was Miss Nellie Merry, B.A., who saw many old friends while away, including some prominent alumnae, as Mrs. Uglow, Mrs. Boyd, Mrs. Warner, and Mrs. Schofield.

Miss Mary Hubbs, B.A., spent a delightful summer in England visiting her brother, who is practising medicine there.

Mrs. B. Huyck (Olive Boyd, B.A.), of Vancouver, and two young sons were at Crescent Beach for the summer.

Miss Gladys Dix, B.A., is secretary to Dr. Colquhoun, Deputy Minister of Education, Toronto.

Miss Leita Arnold, B.A., has left Athens for Montreal to take a position as teacher to the nurses-in-training at the Royal Victoria Hospital.

Mrs. Bayly Ransom (Grace McLelland), Kingston, was married in Quebec on Sept. 18 to Mr. Norman Clare Sutherland, of Kenogami, Que.

Miss Margaret MacKintosh, B.A., spent the summer at Prout's Neck, Me., and on her return trip to Ottawa was the guest of Mrs. Gordon Atkinson (Edna Henderson, B.A.) at Melrose Highlands, Mass.

Miss Roberta Sillers, B.A., spent the summer at the Coast, visiting friends and sight-seeing, joining the Teachers' Convention at Vancouver for the return trip. She is teaching in Walkerton.

Mrs. J. Stokes Stewart (Myra F. Dyde, B.A.) has removed from Hamilton to Whitby, where she has been residing for some months. Her husband has received an appointment to the staff of the Provincial Hospital there.

Miss Jessie Muir, M.A., was numbered among the Alumnae members who crossed the Atlantic during the past summer. She spent the greater part of her time travelling in France and Switzerland.

Mrs. J. MacKinnon (Eileen Wright, B.A.), of Halifax, delighted the members of Sydenham Street Methodist Church, Kingston, with her music this summer, while supplying for the organist for three months. Rev. Mr. MacKinnon is now minister of Zion Presbyterian Church, Brantford.

'14

Miss Olga Somerville, B.A., spent four months in England and the continent this summer. On her return she has enrolled with the Ontario Librarian Course, and will join the staff of the Academy of Medicine Library, on completion of her training.

Mrs. W. C. Clark (Margaret Smith, B.A.), of Chicago, with her three children spent some weeks this summer at her old home in Martintown, Ont.

Mrs. Oliver A. Barwick (Mildred Scammell, B.A.) with her young son, Oliver Edwin, spent the summer at her home in Kingston, with an occasional week or two at the Thousand Islands, where she visited friends.

Miss Louise B. Foster, B.A., Principal of the Union Normal School for Young Women at Chengtu, Sze Chuan, China, is home on furlough, and attended the Alumnae dinner in Grant Hall.

Miss Chrissie McLachlan, M.A., is head of the English Department in Galt.

Miss Mary Staples, B.A., came from British Columbia to Toronto to train for mission work in China, but gave up her chosen work to help her sister, who was ill, and is again teaching in Avonlea, Sask.

Mrs. R. S. Cairns (Sadie Biglow, B.A.), of Creelman, Sask., leads the busy life of a Methodist minister's wife and the mother of two small sons.

Miss Jean Fleming, B.A., graduated in June from Toronto General Hospital.

Mrs. Fred. Ackerman (Lenna Ostrander, B.A.) is the mother of four small sons, two of whom are of an age to be interested in School Fairs.

Miss Kate MacKay, M.A., is at Columbia University again this winter, continuing her postgraduate studies in the Department of English Literature. During the summer she was engaged in English tutorial work at Queen's University for the duration of the Summer Session.

Mrs. J. G. Adams (Myrtle Reynolds, B.A.) has moved to Oshawa from Beamsville.

The marriage took place on Sept. 27, in St. Luke's Church, Kingston, by the Rev. J. de Pencier Wright, of Flora McMillan Schofield, B.A., daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Schofield, Ottawa, to Irvine Meredith Marshall, son of the late Mr. Findlay Marshall and Mrs. Marshall, London, Ont.

Miss Ruth Campbell, B.A., is advertisement copy writer on the Ottawa Journal.

Miss Ethel Guthrie, B.A., is teaching Moderns in Ottawa Collegiate Institute. She spent her holidays in the prairie provinces and British Columbia this year, accompanied by her mother. They spent a short time in Edmonton, on their way to the coast, and were entertained by Dr. and Mrs. Campbell, who showed them through the Alberta University buildings, as one of the chief points of interest in the city.

Miss Olive Chown, Kingston, spent the summer in England.

Miss B. Gilhooly, B.A., Ottawa, spent the summer in England and the continent.

Mrs. D. Bews, (Alene Tovell, B.A.) is now residing at Perth, Ont.

Mrs. J. McCormick (Mamie MacDougall, B.A.) of Lacombe, Alta., spent the summer at Bolsover, Ont., accompanied by her son. She visited Toronto for the Alumnae Reunion in July, where she met other members of her class, including Mrs. C. Wylie (Lilyan Cochrane, B.A.), Miss Elizabeth Chown, B.A., Miss Margaret Govan, B.A., Mrs. G. S. Otto (J. Irene Toole, B.A.) and Miss Violet Warren, B.A., all of whom were delighted to see Mamie after so many years of separation.

Miss Violet Warren, B.A., was one of the associate examiners in Toronto this summer. She now teaches in Athens.

Miss Elizabeth Chown, B.A., motored to Chicago this summer, where she went to visit relatives and hear Grand Opera.

Mrs. M. J. Rodden (Mildred Wormwith, B.A.) of Toronto motored to Kingston last summer on a visit to her parents.

Mrs. H. Campbell (Grace Grant, B.A.) with her husband, the Rev. H. B. Campbell, spent a very pleasant holiday last summer in the Laurentians. Later they visited Toronto, and Georgetown, Ont, the latter place being Mr. Campbell's old home. The twins, Grant and Roy, are making rapid strides towards the class of Arts '40, having just passed their second birthday on October 7.

Miss Jennie Rogers, B.A., as a member of the staff of James Richardson & Sons, Ltd., Montreal office, is vitally interested in the Grain Exchange, and the progress of the port of Montreal, which has the largest grain elevators in the world. Her office on St. Sacrament street is in the heart of Montreal's financial district, which, with its narrow streets and quaint old towering buildings, is pregnant with historical memories of its old world founders.

We are congratulating Dr. and Mrs. J. W. Campbell (Ruby Kilgour, B.A.) on the birth of their daughter, Florence Elizabeth, on Sept. 24th. Florence will surely go to Queen's in due time, as both parents are Queen's graduates, in spite of the fact that Dr. Campbell is on the staff of the University of Alberta.

Miss Annie M. Sillers, B.A., spent the summer at the Coast, afterwards attending the Teachers' Convention in Victoria and returning with the party. She is teaching in Harriston.

Mrs. A. Ball (Hilda Liggett, B.A.) spent the summer at Newboro. She now teaches on the same staff with her husband at Dauphin, Man.

Miss Jennie Scholes, B.A., is private secretary to the President of the Winnipeg Electric Railway.

Miss Eva McGill, B.A., spent the summer completing her course in Physical Culture at Harvard University and is now on the staff of Harbord Collegiate Institute, Toronto.

Miss E. Grace Harrop, B.A., returned to Collegiate teaching in Vancouver after spending the summer at her home in Calgary.

Mrs. J. M. Hazlett (Flora Fair, B.A.) of Creemore, Ont., is very busy these days caring for Billy, born March 30, 1922, and John, who arrived on August 22, 1923.

Dr. Faustina Kelly, B.A., is practising medicine at Sudbury, Ont.

Miss Ferna Halliday, B.A., and Miss Mabel Jamieson have been conducting a girls' camp in the Laurentian Mountains, near Ste. Agathe. In addition to this very successful camp, they are starting another at Tichborne, in Frontenac County, about forty miles north of Kingston, to be called "Camp Oconto." This pleasure-ground will be open to school girls during the summer, except for the last ten days of August, when it will be reserved for adults. The new camp is situated on Eagle Lake and should prove a happy meeting-place for Alumnae next August.

Miss Charlotte Whitton, M.A., President of the Alumnae Association for the past two years and permanent president of her year, visited England, Scotland, the Hebrides, Holland, Brussels and France on a trade trip with the Minister of Trade and Commerce, the Hon. T. A. Low. Afterwards she went to Geneva, Genoa, Milan, Rome, Florence, Venice, Italian Lakes and home as a holiday trip. She had the distinction of being invited to speak at Wembley for Canada on Canadian Day, which task she performed with great credit to herself and her Alma Mater. In November she set out with a Parliamentary delegation on Canadian Trade, to the West Indies, Cuba, Haiti, Venezuela, and Columbia; expects to return latter part of February. Charlotte adds to her numerous activities the Presidency of the Ottawa Branch, Canadian Women's Press Club.

Miss Amy Fraser, B.A., is Secretary to the managing editor of the Ottawa Citizen.

Miss Dorcas Kelly, M.A., is practising law at Windsor, Ont.

The Alumnae Association extend to Mrs. A. C. Malloch (Flora Abernethy, B.A.) their sincere sympathy in her brother's death, which occurred in Kingston early last spring. Mr. and Mrs. Malloch, with their young daughter, Mary Elizabeth, spent several weeks this autumn visiting friends in Almonte, Arnprior, Eganville, Ottawa and Kingston.

Miss Eva Coon, B.A., is in charge of the erection of a new Y.W.C.A. at Windsor, Ont. Eva has made a great success of her job at the Border City and her work in heading up the big drive for building funds has been of the same excellence as her last four years' service.

The members of the Alumnae Association extend to Miss Mildred Gourlay, B.A., their deepest sympathy in her recent bereavement, through the loss of her father, who resided at Eganville. With her accustomed courage she is shouldering the responsibility of being head of the family.

Mrs. Geo. F. Cardiff (Julia M. Hamilton, B.A.), of Estow, Sask., has a small son and daughter, Keith and Ruth Heather.

Miss Martha Fargey, B.A., has returned to Montreal this year, much improved in health after her recent operation in New York and a year's rest and is on the occasional staff of the School Commission. Needless to say the Montreal Alumnae are delighted to have her keen enthusiasm and Queen's spirit with them again.

Miss Jessie MacArthur, B.A., of Martintown, spent the summer travelling to the coast, visiting Portland, Oregon, and stopping from one to five days in most of the western cities where she renewed acquaintances with many Queen's graduates.

Mrs. Walter James Hyde (Bessie Farrell, B.A.) reports that the only trip she ever made from Regina when she was not bored was this year. The reason was Master Alexander Gray (Alex.) Hyde, aged three months, who made a perfect travelling companion. Bessie is living right in Montreal this year, which news is hailed with delight by the Montreal Alumnae.

Miss Jean Cormack, B.A., has moved with her parents to Edmonton.

Miss Myrtle Clinton, B.A., who during the fall term of 1923 had been teaching at the Hamilton Technical School, was married early this year to Mr. F. Horace Fairbairn, of Claresholm, Alberta, where Myrt has now taken up her abode. This is a familiar district, for in former years she had been a member of the High School staff in Claresholm.

Miss Hilda Brown, B.A., was again elected Treasurer of the University Woman's Club, Toronto.

Miss Ruth Harrop, B.A., is teaching in her home town, Calgary.

Miss Dora Helmkey, B.A., of Collingwood, is on the North Bay Collegiate staff.

Miss Hilda Laird, B.A., who spent a year travelling in Europe and in Canada after her two years' work with the League of Nations in Geneva, is now doing special work with the State Educational Library at Albany.

The sympathy of the Alumnae Association is extended to Miss Jean Cormack, B.A., in the death of her brother, Sibley, which occurred in Edmonton in September. A graduate of Queen's, he was not only known in the class room, but also on the campus, where he starred as a Rugby player. Particularly sad was his sudden death because Jean's parents had only recently moved to Edmonton to be near their son. Another brother gave his life a sacrifice to the Great War.

Miss Mora Guthrie, B.A., is a Civil Service examiner at Ottawa.

Dr. and Mrs. Blezard (Ethel Wilder, B.A.) spent their holiday motoring to Banff, and Lake Louise. They report that the scenery along the Windermere is wonderful, and their snap-shots strengthen the assertion.

'19

Miss Ina Edith McDermid, B.A., is Principal of the Continuation School in Malakoff, near North Gower, Ont.

Mrs. James Cameron (Elsie Coolican, B.A.) spent the summer at her home in Renfrew. The sympathy of the Alumnae is extended to Mrs. Cameron in the death of her infant twin sons.

Mrs. T. A. Gordon (Nellie Coventry), formerly of Assiniboia, Sask., went to Toronto last year to complete a course in optometry. She was successful in winning the silver medal in her graduating year.

Miss Helen McLean has a position on the Fort William Collegiate Institute staff.

Miss Mary Rutherford, B.A., spent July and August in Europe with the Overseas Educational League.

Miss Beatrice Eakins, B.A. (B.Com. '22), is in charge of the new department of Salesmanship, opened in the St. Catharines Vocational School.

Miss Mildred Fitzpatrick, B.A., who for over two years has been engaged in business in Detroit, Michigan, writes of her work as "perhaps one of the most romantic commercial enterprises extant." The Sorbonne is represented on its staff, and the Institute Polytechnique of Zurich. It is fitting that Queen's University should have sent one of its graduates also to help promote the unique work that the Vanadium Corporation of America is doing.

Miss Hilda McLaren, B.A., is spending her second year as a teacher in Picton Collegiate Institute.

Miss Mary Cumming, B.A., is on the staff of Riverdale Collegiate, Toronto.

Mrs. (Dr.) A. Cameron (Mary Werte, B.A.) is now living in Rainy River and is very happily engaged looking after Billy and Betty, aged two and one respectively.

Miss Beryl Mowat, B.A., continues with the Actuarial Staff of the Sun Life Assurance Company of Canada, Montreal. With Beryl's inherent love of adventure, it is surprising that she has not gone into the business for herself.

Mrs. H. Rowley (Lucille Corbett, M.A.) is now residing at 66 Webster street, Arlington, Mass. Little Elinor will hold her first birthday party next spring.

Miss Bessie Abernethy and Miss Helen Chown of Kingston conducted a tea house on the highway between Kingston and Gananoque this summer.

Gwen Carter, amongst other activities too numerous to mention, is finishing her work for her B.A. extra-murally.

Miss Elizabeth MacCallum, M.A., decided last summer to forego social work in Toronto and the Editorship of the Alumnae News in order to pursue a second post-graduate term at Columbia University. She is reading in History, specializing in the development of nationalism, and engaging in tutorial work. Her description of her present home, International House, found elsewhere in this volume, will be much enjoyed by our readers. Elizabeth writes: "I have found here quite a number of my former classmates of the American Collegiate Institute, Smyrna, most of whom came here after Smyrna was burnt in the course of the Graeco-Turkish war, 1922."

'20

Miss Roberta McLéan, B.A., reports a pleasant summer at Cowansville, Que., her parents' home, and her countenance certainly belies not her report. She is again on the staff of Strathcona Academy, Outremont.

Mrs. John Dunlop (Margaret McArton, B.A.) is teaching in the Ottawa Technical School.

Mrs. A. P. Blackburn (Eileen Campbell, B.A.) is the active secretary of the Montreal Alumnae Association.

She entertained at a Queen's bridge party last March when the sum of twenty-five dollars was realized for the residence fund.

Miss Janet Greig, B.A., is teaching Moderns in the University of British Columbia. She is studying French in Paris at present and will return at the end of the year.

Miss Dorothy Mickle, B.A., has been editing the Chesley weekly paper during the summer and is planning entering journalistic work. She is spending the winter in Jamaica.

Miss Marjorie Fair, B.A., spent the summer in Europe with the Major Ney party.

Miss Bessie Foreman, B.A., toured Europe this summer, Rome being among the places visited.

Miss Gladys Sexton, B.A., is teaching French in the St. James Collegiate, Winnipeg.

Mrs. Edwin Hawley (Gladys May, B.A.) spent the summer in Ottawa. "Eddie" spent the summer on a special survey party in the Hudson's Bay district.

Miss Edith Sangster, B.A., has entered the commercial field as accountant, in Toronto.

Miss Marjorie McKenzie, B.A., secretary for Dean Skelton, has accompanied him to Ottawa. Her knowledge of languages will prove an advantage in her new work.

Miss Alice Goodwin, B.A., spent several weeks in Boston this summer seeking more perfection in the art of imparting her musical knowledge to her pupils. Alice opened her own studio in Montreal this year and has built up a remarkably large class in a remarkably short time.

To Mrs. John Charles Grant (Beatrice Craig, B.A.) the Alumnae Association extends its sincere sympathy in the death of her second youngest brother, Leslie, which occurred by drowning at Glen Walter, Ont., this summer. Bea had just returned from a pleasant two weeks' stay at a camp at Blue Sea Lake, and was spending a few days with the Misses Peg and Jean Cameron at Carleton Place, when she received the sad news.

Miss Catharine Holland, B.A., true to form as usual where her executive ability is concerned, is vice-president of the Montreal Alumnae this year. She is again teaching at Strathcona Academy, Outremont, after having spent a most enjoyable summer at her home in Westville, N.S.

Miss Mary Taylor, B.A., who has spent the last year as Associate Secretary to the Minister of Trade and Commerce, Ottawa, has resigned that position and returned to Kingston to act as hostess at the Principal's residence.

Miss Gwen Gauley, B.A., has accepted the position of Associate Secretary to the Hon. Thos. A. Low, Minister of Trade and Commerce, succeeding Miss Mary Taylor, resigned.

'21

Miss Cecile Stewart, B.A., resigned her post as metabolist at the Royal Victoria Hospital, Montreal, to accept the principalship of the Hampstead School. Although regretting to abandon her beloved chemistry for the 'hickory stick', she admits she hardly knows herself with her short hours and long week-ends, one of which she utilized on a perfectly corking motor trip to Quebec with a party of girls. Part of her holidays she spent at River Rouge, in the Gatineau Valley.

Miss Cecilia Beaupré, B.A., of Niagara Falls, N.Y., was married to Mr. Delahunt last June, and is residing at Timmins, Ontario.

Miss Lillian Handford, B.A., is on the staff of her home school at Renfrew.

Miss Mildred Hallett, M.A., is teaching in the Normal School, Ottawa. She has spent two years in France and Spain and has a certificate from the Sorbonne.

Miss Jessie Elliott, B.A., graduated from Saskatchewan University in Theology in April, 1924, and is at present doing work among the new Canadians at Hardieville, near Lethbridge. Ninety per cent. of the population are foreign.

Miss Ruth Evanson, M.A., who attended Bryn Mawr University, Pa., last year, spent the summer at her home in Prescott.

Miss M. Elizabeth Sheldon, B.A., is teaching Mathematics in Sydenham High School.

Miss Mildred Tait, B.A., after a very pleasant summer spent at her home in Bainsville, Ont., is teaching on the staff of the Baron Byng High School, Montreal, where the rising generation are being shown the light in English and History.

'22

Miss Viola Gibson, B.A., was married at her home in Beamsville, on August 25, to C. Pierson McArthur, B.A., B.D. '21, oldest son of Mr. A. C. McArthur of Martintown. The ceremony was performed by Rev. A. Donaldson of Elora. After their return from a trip down the Saguenay, they took up residence in St. Catharines, where Mr. McArthur is a member of the Collegiate Staff.

Miss Flossie Gray, B.A., spent the summer with her parents, Lt.-Col. A. W. and Mrs. Gray, Brockville, and is now teaching in the Storm King School, Cornwall-on-Hudson, N.Y.

Miss Honora Goodfriend, B.A., is teaching in Arthur, Ontario.

Miss Doreen Lavell, B.A., of Kingston, was married in June to Marshall Sutherland.

Mrs. W. E. Affleck (Rheta Gray, B.A.) whose husband is a graduate of Queen's, is residing in St. Catharines.

Miss Elsie Gardiner, B.A., formerly on "The Daily Star," Toronto, has gone to Santa Monica, California, with her mother.

Miss Maude Hammett, B.A., is on the staff of Picton Collegiate again this year.

Miss Winnie Martin, B.A., B.Com., celebrated her return from leading the "Commercial Grads." to a world's championship, by leaving them in Montreal to marry Dr. Robert Tait. The hearty good wishes of her innumerable friends follow her to her new home in West Paris, Maine.

Miss Honora Dyde, B.A., after a summer at home in Kingston, has returned to Brooklyn, N.Y., where she is continuing her art course at Pratt Institute.

Miss Edith Lilly Reid, B.A., of Waterdown, spent the summer in the West.

Miss Marion D. Laird, B.A., is in her third year in Medicine in the University of Toronto.

Miss Anne McAllister, B.A., is teaching Physical Training and English in the Humberside Collegiate, Toronto.

Miss Bertha Bassam, B.A., spent the summer at her home in Kingston, and has recently been appointed classifier and reviser in the Science section of the Cataloguing Department at the Columbia University Library. She left the Princeton Library early in November to undertake her new duties in New York.

The Montreal Alumnae welcome another brand new Queen's bride this year in the person of Miss Annie Lenore (Goldie) Bartels, B.A., whose marriage to Mr. Douglas Geiger, B.Sc. '23, took place in Kingston on September 25 of this year. Goldie's charming personality and brilliant musical talent will make her a very popular member of the local Alumnae.

Miss Beatrice Cummings, B.A., has joined the staff of the Arnprior High School.

Miss Helen Charlesworth, B.A., is teaching in the Essex High School as head of the Commercial department.

Miss Lillian Carter, B.A., who attended Ontario College of Education last session, has a position in her home school, Picton Collegiate Institute, teaching English and History.

Miss Fleda B. E. Windover, B.A., is now teaching in Shelburne, Ont.

Miss Eunice Simpson, B.A., is retaining the position at Havergal College which she held last year.

Miss Mary E. Davidson, B.A., attended Ontario College of Education last session.

Miss Ruth Mackinnon, B.A., is teaching in the High School at Hanover this year.

Miss Evelyn Bennington, B.A., is Principal of the Continuation School at Spencerville.

Miss Annetta Pedlow, B.A., has taken a course in commercial work and is now teaching in the Renfrew Collegiate.

Miss Mabel McKeever, B.A., is remaining on the staff of the Continuation School at Creemore for a second term.

Miss Margaret Summerby, B.A., has been teaching in a Continuation School at Richards Landing, on St. Jois Island, in the St. Mary's River.

Miss Jean Cresswell, B.A., of Martintown, is teaching in Durham, Ont.

Miss Barbara Costello, B.A., 1923, saw the light and found her way to the great Canadian Metropolis last spring, and is making good at secretarial work in the office of Kenneth G. Rea, architect, Montreal.

Miss Hannah Starr, B.A., is Principal of the Continuation School at Morewood, Ont.

Miss Margaret Porteous, B.A., was married early in July at Chalmers Presbyterian Church, Ottawa, to Arthur Richard Foster, B.Sc. '23, Toronto, son of Mr. A. Foster, registrar and county clerk of Sault Ste. Marie, and the late Mrs. Foster. They are residing in Toronto.

'24

Miss Margery Booth, B.A., is teaching and doing tutorial work at Berkeley Institute, Brooklyn, N.Y.

Miss Marion MacArthur, B.A., is teaching in the High School at Pointe aux Tremble, Quebec.

Miss Edith McDermid, B.A., took a course in physical training in the Summer School at Queen's.

Miss Stella Campbell, B.A., who won the Travelling Scholarship, is attending Chicago University. Her address until next spring is 5719 Drexel Avenue, Chicago.

Miss Kathleen Easton, B.A., of Renfrew, is with the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, Ottawa.

Miss Gertrude Milliken, B.A., is in New York attending the New York School of Social Work, preparing herself for specialized activities later on in the sphere of industrial management. She is one of the twenty fortunate Canadian women in residence at International House, the new home for foreign students working in New York.

Miss Jean Gray, B.A., was married to Mr. Manske, Science '23, early in September and immediately sailed for England, where Mr. Manske is working on a scholarship.

Miss Kathleen Mulligan, B.A., who graduated with honours in biology and chemistry, is numbered among the many clever graduates of the Perth Collegiate Institute. Kathleen has accepted a lucrative position in the chemical department of the Hawkesbury Paper Company at Hawkesbury.

GROUPED

Queen's Alumnae, who are able to keep in close connection with life at their Alma Mater, being engaged on the staff of Kingston Collegiate Institute, are Miss Elizabeth Henstridge, M.A., '97, Miss Irene McCormack, B.A. '06, Miss Lola McLeod, B.A., '04, Miss Margaret Hall, B.A. '09, Miss Marjorie Fair, B.A. '20, Miss Gladys Graham, B.A. '18, Miss Mildred Sheridan, B.A., '18, and Mrs. M. P. Lawson (Florence Ewing, B.A. '03). Miss Hall and Miss Fair spent the summer on the continent. Miss Sheridan is at present studying in Paris. Mrs. W. H. Penwarden (May Hiscock, B.A. '08) and Miss Regina McLean, B.A., '19, supplied during September for teachers abroad.

Miss Minnie Lenz, B.A. '24, and Viola Davidson, B.A., '18, spent the summer at the Government Biological Station, St. Andrew's, N.B., engaged in scientific research on problems relative to the fisheries of Canada, the former under the direction of Dr. Reed of Queen's Medical Faculty, and the latter with Dr. Huntsman, Professor of Marine Biology at Toronto University and Director of the Station.

Queen's Alumnae who are on the 1924-25 staff of Belleville Collegiate Institute are: Miss Nellie Arthur, B.A. '06; Miss Nellie Merry, B.A. '13; Miss Elizabeth Chown, B.A. '15; and Miss Alice Saunders, B.A. '20.

Miss Doris McClelland, B.A. '20; Miss Jessie Dyde, B.A. '18, and Miss Mildred Sheridan, B.A. '18, of Kingston, attended a Students' Conference at Lausanne, Switzerland, on Sept. 25th, and later spent a weekend with Miss Janet Saunders, M.A. '18, of the League of Nations Library at Geneva, before returning to resume their studies in Paris.

Miss Lois Allen, B.A. '21, has been awarded an art specialists' certificate as the reward for taking a summer course at the Ontario College of Art, Toronto. Miss Edna Shaw, B.A. '21, and Miss Dorothy West, B.A. '21, secured similar art certificates in the same course.

The wedding took place at Knox Presbyterian Church, Vancouver, of Miss Hazel Elizabeth Laurie, eldest daughter of Mrs. R. J. Laurie, to Donald Bayne Taylor, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. John D. Taylor, Almonte. The bride was a teacher at Nelson and Kalso, B.C., and was in her third year in Arts. The bridegroom is also an undergraduate of Queen's. They are residing in Almonte.

Miss Kathleen Wingard, B.A. '12, of Ottawa, and her sister, Mrs. Ralph Scott (Marjorie Wingard, B.A. '19) of Kindersley, Sask., spent the summer at the Pacific coast.

Miss Jennie Shields, B.A. '14, who with her sister Mary, B.A. '19, is teaching at the Girls' High School in Los Angeles, spent the summer in Italy, the continent, and England. "Jen" promises to return to Canada "for keeps" this year.

Women graduates of Queen's University who attended the 1924 Summer Courses at the University of Toronto are: Miss Lois Allan, B.A. '21; Miss Katherine Day, B.A. '13; Miss Ruby Percival, B.A. '19; Miss Edna Shaw, B.A. '21; Miss Amelia Thompson, B.A. '22; Miss Dorothy Wert, B.A. '21; Miss A. M. Wilson; Miss Helen Charlesworth, B.A. '23; Miss Beatrice Eakins, B.A. '19; Miss Mary Mangan, B.A. '18; Miss Annetta Pedlow, B.A. '15; Miss Beatrice Cummings, B.A. '23; Miss Hazel

Fenton, B.A. '21; Miss Sadie Fraser, B.A. '19; Miss Luella Thibault, B.A. '12; Miss Mary Cameron, B.A. '23; Miss Jean Cresswell, B.A. '23; Miss Louise Gibbons; Miss Mary Gourlay, B.A. '22; Miss Margaret Henry, B.A. '17; Miss Rena Landry, B.A. '22; Miss Margaret MacDonell, B.A. '22; Miss Mary McGuggan, B.A. '19; Miss Hilda McLaren, B.A. '19; Miss Janet Maus, B.A. '15; Miss Margaret Wootton, B.A. '23; Miss Frances Freeman, B.A. '22.

The Queen's Alumnae attending the Ontario College of Education this year include twenty-five members of the year 1924, as follows:—Miss Helen Clarke, B.A.; Miss Mary Duncan, B.A.; Miss Minnie Lenz, B.A.; Miss Jean Mackenzie, B.A.; Miss Agnes McCredie, B.A.; Miss Margaret Plunkett, B.A.; Miss Jessie Young, B.A.; Miss Reba Young, B.A.; Miss Jessie Armstrong, B.A.; Miss Edra Bowers, B.A.; Miss Della Douglas, B.A.; Miss Julia Egan, B.A.; Miss Marjorie Gothard, B.A.; Miss Margaret Graham, B.A.; Miss Bessie Lane, B.A.; Miss Marion MacAlpine, B.A.; Miss Christine Macdonald, B.A.; Miss Elizabeth Macpherson, B.A.; Miss Gladys Orser, B.A.; Miss Lillian Potter, B.A.; Miss Margaret Watson, B.A.; Miss Alice Best, B.A.; Miss Helen Nelson, B.A.; Miss Mary Chambers, B.A.; Miss Dorothy Orser, B.A.

Miss Margaret H. Brown, B.A. '12, of the Canadian Presbyterian Mission at Hwaikingfu, Honan, China, writes of the difficulties that beset the path of foreigners in war-swept China, and cherishes memories of her furlough last year in Canada. Even in that far-off land the thoughts of Queen's graduates often turn to their Alma Mater. On her way to the coast last summer, Miss Brown lunched with Miss Hilda Hague, B.A. '16, of Pekin University. A Chinese decoration for Ban Righ Hall is the probable outcome. Mrs. H. W. Harkness (E. Maude Brownlee, B.A. '13) of Shantung Christian University at Wei Hwei, is also active in this matter. "We still have the same interest that we always had in dear old Queen's."

The Alumnae express their deep regret at the continued ill-health of Mrs. Taylor, and feel the loss of her generous interest and assistance in all their functions and undertakings. With all other friends of the Principal and his family, the members of the Association join in hoping for word of her complete recovery.

I. NAME.

The object of the Association shall be:

The Association shall be called "The Queen's University Alumnae Association."

1. To serve as a bond of union among the Alumnae of the University.
2. To initiate and promote any scheme for the special benefit of the women students.
3. To promote the general interests of the University.

II. MEMBERSHIP

Members shall be known as Honorary, Associate and Active.

1. Honorary membership may be conferred on such persons as in the opinion of the Association are entitled to such distinction. They shall be exempt from the payment of dues, but shall neither vote nor hold office.

2. Associate members shall be wives of the professors and trustees of the University, and women members of the staff, whose names appear in the Calendar, and Alumnae of two years' standing joining after May, 1917. They shall have the right to vote but shall not be eligible for office.

3. Active members shall be all women graduates of the University and all Alumnae of two years' standing, who have joined previous to May, 1917. They shall have all the privileges of the Association.

III. FEES

1. Associate and Active members shall pay an annual fee of one dollar.

2. No member shall have the right to vote or hold office whose fees are not paid up to date.

IV. OFFICERS AND EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE

1. The officers of the Association shall be elected annually and shall be as follows:

(a) President; (b) 1st Vice-President; (c) 2nd Vice-President; (d) 3rd Vice-President; (e) Secretary; (f) Treasurer.

These officers, together with eight elected Councillors, the immediate Past President, the Conveners of standing committees and the Presidents of Branch Alumnae Associations, shall constitute the Executive.

2. Five shall constitute a quorum of the Executive, and members who cannot be present shall have the power to appoint a proxy.

3. The nomination and election of officers and councillors shall take place at the annual meeting.

4. Nomination shall be by Committee of three appointed by the President, and by open nomination.

5. The voting shall be by ballot.

6. Either President or Secretary must be a resident of Kingston.

7. The election of the President must be held before the nomination of the other officers.

8. The Levana Society shall elect one of the Councillors.

V. STANDING COMMITTEES

There shall be the following standing committees:

1. Residence.

2. Representation of Women.

3. Household Science.

4. Employment for Women Students During Vacation.

5. Alumnae News.

6. Avonmore Committee.

7. Membership.

8. Building Committee.

Such committees and an assistant Secretary shall be appointed by the Executive Committee at its first regular meeting after the annual meeting, to serve for the term of one year.

1. The regular meetings of the Association shall be held annually at Kingston on the Saturday before Thanksgiving.

2. Any member in good standing shall have the power to appoint, in writing, a proxy, if not able to attend the meeting.

3. In case of emergency, or at the request of five members, the President shall instruct the Secretary to call a special meeting.

4. A meeting shall also be held in Toronto in the month of July for the purpose of keeping Alumnae who cannot attend the Annual Meeting in touch with the Association (the date and form which the meeting shall take to be determined by the Executive Committee, or by a committee appointed by the Executive).

VII. ORDER OF BUSINESS

1. Minutes of previous annual meeting.

2. Secretary's Report, including report of Executive meetings.

3. Treasurer's Report.

4. Reports of Committees.

5. Unfinished Business.

6. Communications.

7. Reports of Branches.

8. New Business.

9. Election of Officers.

VIII. AMENDMENTS

1. Alterations or additions may be made to this constitution by a two-thirds vote at the annual meeting, notice of the proposed changes having been given with the announcement of the annual meeting.
